SILVER ANNIVERSARY ISSUE

WITH THIS ISSUE, the Boston College ALUMNI NEWS begins its 25th year of publication. In the quarter century since the printing of Vol. I, No. 1 of September, 1937, the magazine has grown from a 16 page issue to its present 40 page production; our alumni have grown in numbers from nearly 6,000 to over 26,000 and the physical plant has increased from 4 to over 30 major buildings.

Such growth is not without memories of yesteryear and hope for continued success in the future. Appearing in volume I is a letter from Rev. Francis V. Sullivan, S.J., '21, then Faculty Moderator of Athletics, and for many years Faculty Advisor to the Alumni Association, which conveys the feeling of Fr. Frank for the alumni. Then as now, he says in part: "My purpose in this little squib is to voice my sincere appreciation to the active and loyal supporters of my work among our Alumni . . . To them I wish to direct this heartfelt word of gratitude, yes to them I add a sincere 'God bless you'."

The first editor, Herbert J. O'Connor, '31, now Colonel, U.S. Army, said in recent correspondence, "For myself, I can only say that it is always refreshing to be reminded in its pages of the 'golden days of our happy youth' at Boston College and to be reassured that the ancient pursuit of excellence continues unabated down through the years."

May the ALUMNI NEWS continue ever to excel.

GUIDE OF

by

MARY T. KINNANE

Dean of Women
School of Education

A phenomenon of the modern college campus is the burgeoning of what are called "student personnel services," offices with trained personnel to advise, inform, aid and support collegians in a variety of ways, from intramural participation to getting a part-time job, from correcting a speech impediment to applying for a Rhodes Scholarship. These services are not frills, nor is their purpose to pamper undergraduates. They are necessary supplements to the instructional program and they help to meet the varied pressures that are on college youth today. The aim of this article is to give a thumbnail sketch of the impressive array of personnel and guidance services that now help to promote the successful collegiate and post-collegiate careers of Boston College students.

To begin with, the Boston College freshman of today does not just arrive at the Heights, find himself sitting in a classroom, and wonder how or why he came to be here. Long before he becomes a registered student, he has met and talked with the Director of Admissions, or one of his assistants, Rev. Edmond D. Walsh, S.J. and James P. McIntyre. Before that he may have had the opportunity to talk with a Boston College representative at a career day program held at his high school. This is an area in which many alumni have played an important role in securing good students for Boston College. He has read the Boston College catalogs and bulletins which are made available to high school guidance directors. In short, the typical entering student is at Boston College as the result of information which he has received professionally and he enters with considerable knowledge about Boston College. As regards entering Freshmen, alumni and alumnae who send sons and daughters to Boston College should themselves be as well informed as possible about the College as it is today, a modern Jesuit co-educational University with its outstanding offerings in humanistic and professional programs, so that they can present the modern image of their Alma Mater to their sons and daughters.

The Office of Admissions handles the admission of students of all undergraduate day divisions. Last year, approximately 5000 students applied to enter Boston College in the fall of '62. Of these over 2500 students were interviewed by Fr. Edmond Walsh, the Director, and his staff. Letters of acceptance were sent to approximately 2200. The end result, after changes in plans, withdrawals because of lack of funds, etc. is that approximately 1450 students registered in September, 1962.

One of the important considerations in attendance at college today is the matter of finances. While the tuition at Boston College has been held below the level of tuition at any major college in the Boston area and below that of any Eastern Jesuit institution, many students are unprepared to meet the total tuition costs. The Office of Admissions handles all requests for financial assistance or part-time on-campus employment for upperclassmen as well as for freshmen. More than 2000 students (approximately one-third of the University undergraduate population) apply for financial aid in a typical year. This includes 40 to 45 per cent of the Freshman class. In the year 1961-62 over 750 students applied for financial loans. With increasing tuition and living costs, and with several children from large families planning on a college career, demands for aid multiply annually. Fr. Walsh foresees a substantial increase in direct Federal grants to universities to provide interest-free loans for students. Last year $277,000 was distributed to Boston College students in National Defense Education Act loans. Of this, $250,000 was Federal funds, the maximum amount allocated to the college by the Federal government. The remainder was contributed by Boston College for loan purposes. This is separate from the large amounts of scholarship funds given each year to worthy students. As University physical facilities have expanded so too have the number of part-time jobs available to students. For example, a student is able to earn up to $600 per year toward tuition costs by working in McElroy Commons. Until the year 1955 all student requests for financial assistance were handled by the Treasurer's Office, or very often informally through private resources. As the volume of requests increased the Office of Admissions took over responsibility for considering such requests. This year a special assistant, John E. Madigan of Lynn, has been added whose main function is to act as a financial counselor to students and to process applicants for NDEA loans and other financial aid and scholarships. Students are no longer reticent about seeking financial aid and, provided they maintain qualifying grades, counseling and assistance will be provided for them.

Once the student has been accepted and sees his way through financially, he then moves into the next phase of becoming acquainted with Boston College. Some schools such as Nursing and to a limited extent, CBA, interview incoming freshmen in the Spring and Summer prior to entrance. All Freshmen, however, return one week before the opening of classes for a program of orientation. Planning for this program is begun annually in January and is undertaken by a University committee, appointed by the President, representing the four undergraduate day colleges. Upperclassmen work with this committee to plan a program which introduces the Freshman to the intellectual, spiritual and social aspects of University life, to the traditions and ways of the Heights, and welcomes him to the University family. During the summer, prior to September admission, the student receives details of the program and a reading list.

Rev. Edmond D. Walsh, S.J.
Director of Admissions

Orientation week includes a day of spiritual recollection, convocations at which the Freshmen are addressed by the President and the Academic Vice President, Deans, and Student Government Officers, and a rally at which Boston College songs and cheers are taught to the Freshmen with the combined assistance of the University Band and the University Chorale. At other meetings faculty and upperclassmen lead discussions based on the summer reading lists. All students are provided with a University Handbook which is a mine of information on every aspect of student life and activity.

Of course the chief direction any college student needs is concerning his academic program. The variety of choices available and the number of decisions to be made by a Boston College student today are somewhat bewildering compared to the days when the choice was pretty much limited to Greek and non-Greek. To start with, the entering Freshman is confronted with a choice among the several colleges of the university and once he has made his decision and been accepted he has to decide on an area of concentration, such as Humanities or Pre-Medical, Industrial Management, Secondary Education or a particular field of Nursing. There is also a possibility that he will be allowed to take some Sophomore courses because of approved Advanced Placement work in high school. Or, he may be a candidate for a specially structured honors program. To help students, at the start and throughout their college years to make the right academic choices and adjustments, an array of professional services is available that might seem formidable to those alumni who got their direction from their "section" teacher or from the dean. Advising students on academic matters are the deans, assistant deans, personnel in the guidance offices, assigned faculty advisors (in some schools), departmental chairmen, directors of honors programs, foreign student advisor, pre-medical and pre-legal advisors, graduate fellowship advisor, plus, of course, teachers, and other officers to be mentioned later.

Christopher Flynn

The several deans find that nowadays they are largely occupied with the academic business of the departments under them, with faculty matters and the recruitment of new faculty. They still maintain contacts with students but these tend to be with student delegations regarding college policy and student plans. Students with personal problems may see the dean, but normally the details of individual academic programs are not settled in the dean's office.

It is the assistant dean who does much of the academic advising and approves the programs of students. Gone are the days of the classically simple student schedule where, upon entrance, the student's curriculum was fairly fixed throughout his four years. Today not only do students have allegiance to a variety of departments and programs; they do not necessarily take all their courses with their classmates. Thus a Freshman may be taking Junior Math, Sophomore English, and Freshman French. Programs of Advanced Placement and Early Admissions do not permit stereotyped schedules. The task of individualizing the student's program falls largely on the assistant dean. He is the officer, also, responsible for following students' progress. Conferences are held with students who are failing or not living up to promise, and, where possible, adjustments are made to solve scheduling problems and remove student-faculty incompatibilities. Once a student has chosen his field of academic concentration he becomes the special responsibility of a department chairman, e.g. Psychology, Government, Accounting. He normally sees the chairman twice a year for direction and approval of courses in the area. He discusses with the chairman his progress and prospects and especially the appropriate preparation and strategy for future graduate work in the field.

In keeping with the increased tempo of intellectual life the Honors Programs in the several schools and colleges provide an opportunity for the academically talented to pursue accelerated courses and programs which are culturally enriching. In A&S, CBA, and the School of Education the Directors of the Honors Programs are in a sense deans, counselors, and academic companions to a selected group of ambitious students. In addition to identifying, advising, and planning for the academically talented, the Directors of the Honors programs also counsel these students in the choice of a future career, in applying for fellowships and scholarships, and in the choice of graduate schools. As one Director of the Honors program indicates, honors programs benefit the entire student body by establishing levels of excellence within sight of all the students, and they serve to develop extraordinary talent that has often been withheld by the student himself for want of just this type of special challenge.

Information on national fellowships and scholarships is provided for all students by Fr. Joseph Gauthier, S.J. Fr. Gauthier also serves as the campus liaison officer with national scholarship foundations, such as the Woodrow Wilson and Danforth foundations. Under the Junior year abroad program, four top notch students will enroll at foreign universities this academic year. Peter Claps of Greenwich, Conn. and Eileen Godino of Norwich, Conn. will attend the University of Madrid; Thomas ographies, in securing references, and where appropriate, in conducting mock interviews prior to interview. That this service is bearing fruit is seen by awards won by recent graduates. Members of the class of '61 received 28 assistantships for graduate study, 17 fellowships, and 20 scholarships. Of the members of the class of '62, 40 received assistantships, 31 fellowships, and 14 scholarships, including 4 Woodrow Wilson Awards, 1 Danforth Fellowship, 3 National Science Foundation Awards, 1 V.A., 1 National Defense Education Act Award. Graduates of '62 were accepted by 86 graduate schools and plan to attend 58.

For students who are planning careers in medicine and law, pre-medical and pre-legal advisory services are available. Pre-medical advising is one of the oldest and most effective guidance services on campus. For many years this was a major interest of our Rector, Rev. Fr. Walsh, when he was chairman of our Biology Department. At present, Fr. George Drury of the Biology Department keeps tabs on students in pre-medical and pre-dental programs. Juniors planning a career in medicine are screened by the Medical School Admission Test administered by the University Office of Testing Services. The pre-legal advisor, Dr. Paul Heffron, provides information to students planning a law career, handles general inquiries, and refers qualified students to the Dean of the Law School. Specific information on individual law schools and literature describing the Law School Admission Test are made available to interested students. The advisor calls to the attention of qualified students, scholarship opportunities for graduate studies in law schools. The Dean of the Law School also talks with prospective students and conducts a pre-legal day on campus.

Backing up and supplementing the scholastic guidance given by deans and other academic officials are the busy Guidance Offices of the several schools, staffed by Jesuits and laymen trained professionally in guidance practices. Prior to 1958, guidance services as they exist today were not known. There is no doubt that much excellent informal counseling was done on a personal basis and there was one counselor for the entire University. At present each School has at least one guidance counselor. The College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Business Administration conduct distinct guidance offices; the Arts and Science Office, in addition to one full-time administrator, has two full-time assistants; Weston M. Jenks, Jr., Director of Guidance, who also acts as Foreign Student advisor and University Military Advisor; Francis S. Sheehan, Director of the Lay Apostolate Program and Russell W. Masterson, who acts as Assistant Foreign Student Advisor. Problems of every nature ranging from assistance in the selection of a major to limited therapy are handled by the counselor. The focus and type of problems varies from School to School, but those which appear most frequently are centered on problems affecting study habits and skills, academic performance, motivation, and career choice. Minor emotional and personal problems are treated locally, but a great deal of attention is given to screening problem cases and to making the appropriate referral. Financial problems are referred to the Office of Financial Assistance, health problems to the infirmary, spiritual and moral problems to the Student Counselor or the student's spiritual advisor, in some cases to parents. Severe emotional problems, and these do occur in a population of this magnitude and diversity, are referred for private counseling or therapy or to off-

When the "old grad" returns to Alma Mater he can easily see the physical changes on the campus which have taken place since he left those hallowed halls of learning. What is not so evident on the surface, are the number of honor societies, clubs and other student activities, now perhaps taken for granted by the undergraduates. A glance at the Sub Turri of 1913 shows that there were but 6 extra curricular activities in which the student might place some of his excess interest and energy. Today there are more than 70 organizations, active on campus thru which the student may take an interest in affairs over and above the matters of the classroom. Although such societies, academies and clubs may not be considered as a form of guidance in its strictest terms participation in such activities does, nevertheless, afford an opportunity for individual expression, advice and counsel.

Checking into the Student Handbook for 1962-63, there will be found a variety of organizations, most of which may be found below.

HONOR SOCIETIES

Alpha Sigma Nu: The National Jesuit Honor Society, whose Boston College chapter was founded in 1939. It honors students who have distinguished themselves in scholarship, loyalty and service to the University.

Order of the Cross and Crown: Reserved to Senior Class members who have achieved distinction in the first three years, both scholastically and in extra curricular activities.

Beta Gamma Sigma: A scholarship honor society in the field of business and commerce, to which a student may be elected, based on scholastic honors.

Alpha and Omega Society: The honor society of the School of Education, designed to promote the cultural development of its members.

Mater Spei Society: Members of the Senior Class of the Graduate Nursing program are eligible for membership, based upon their activity in extra curricular activities and scholastic standing.

The Siena Society: An organization reserved to those of the Senior Class of the Basic Nursing program, who have achieved high scholastic standing and have been active in various organizations of the University.

Omicron Chi Epsilon: A national honor society in the field of Economics, which students majoring in this subject may be elected to in Junior year, having shown excellence in scholastic achievement.

Sigma Pi Sigma: Students in the field of Physics, who have completed some advanced work in this subject, may be elected to this national honor society. Its purpose: to promote interest in research and advanced physics.

Sodality: Prime among student activities at a Catholic college is, of course, the Sodality, to which all students may belong. Its objective: the development of informed and mature Catholics, competent spiritually and intellectually to cope with the challenge of their today. Today, because of the complexity of university life, the Sodalities are divided into branches: The Men's Sodality covering A&S, CBA and Education; the Women's Sodality in Education; Evening College Sodality; Basic and Graduate Nursing Sodalities.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Academy of Marketing Executives: Open to Juniors and Seniors, its purpose is to prepare students for managerial positions in marketing. Activities include seminars, field projects and sessions with other collegiate chapters.

Accounting Academy: Open to all students concentrating on the accounting field; its purpose, the development of a professional attitude towards accounting and the encouragement of sound business ethics.

Alpha Kappa Psi: The oldest national professional fraternity in the area of business devoted to conducting activities to further the welfare of the school and its members.

Amateur Radio Society: An organization open to students interested in phases of amateur radio broadcasting. Licensed members operate a short wave transmitter located on campus.

Aquinas Circle: A cultural organization open to Juniors and Seniors, meeting weekly to discuss philosophical questions.

Bellarmino Law & Government Academy: A student agency for disseminating information in the fields of law, government journalism and politics, often presenting guest lectures on current questions.

Bellarmino Speakers' Club: An organization in the Evening College, devoted to informal instruction, panels and debates.

Blessed Oliver Plunkett Gaelic Cultural Society: As the name well implies, a group devoted to those with an interest in the "ould sod"; it fosters interest in Irish-Scottish history, literature and traditions.

Boston College Band: Open to all students with an interest in music and ability to play an instrument. The Band provides music for all football games, other sports events and special occasions at the University.

Chemical Society: For all students majoring in or with interest in the chemical field. Students prepare and present technical material and foster professional pride for the chemical industry.

Dramatic Society: One of the oldest campus organizations, devoted to the dramatic arts. Open to all students with an interest in the theatre, it assists in developing talent, poise and acting ability.

The Historical Society: A group which provides an outlet for social, academic and professional needs of students interested in history.

Business Club: An activity of the College of Business Administration, open to Freshmen and Sophomores, designed to develop an interest in business procedures.

Cadet Officers Club: Limited to Junior and Senior members of the R.O.T.C. program, it fosters an "Esprit de Corps" by maintaining high standards of character and military proficiency.

Campus Radio WVBC: A radio station on campus, operated entirely by students, in accordance with all federal and FCC regulations. It broadcasts regular programs to the campus, including many sports events away from home, and is a member of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System.

Cosmos, Journal of Science: A publication, open to all students, for articles in the field of exact science.

Creative Writers Workshop: Organized as a compliment to the regular curriculum, it offers students the opportunity to write plays, poems and short stories under competent guidance.

Delta Sigma Pi: An international professional business fraternity, whose purpose is to further a high standard of ethics and culture in business.

English Academy: A society with limited membership, meeting regularly to discuss various literary programs. The Academy is open to any interested student on application to the moderator.

Gold Key Society: One of the most active organizations on campus, devoted to the development and promotion of school spirit and student morale, and the performance of many services for the University. The Gold Key acts as ushers at student, alumni and University events, provides guides, promotes rallies, dances; the Gold Key is awarded to Junior and Senior members on the basis of service to the University.

The Heights: The official news organ of the University, founded in 1919, published weekly during the academic year, by the student staff. Open to all students interested in the field of journalism.

The Humanities: An undergraduate journal devoted to research and criticism in the liberal arts.

Journal of Business: A semiannual professional magazine, published by students in the College of Business Administration, containing articles of current interest in the field of commerce and industry.

League of the Sacred Heart: An organization whose activities are dedicated to the Sacred Heart of Our Lord through First Friday devotions.

Mendel Club: Students in pre-med, pre-dental or biology courses may join this organization which provides lectures and films of interest to increase knowledge in the medical and biological sciences.

Ricci Mathematics Academy: Named in honor of Fr. Ricci, S.J., a renowned missionary and mathematician in the early days of the Society of Jesus. The academy, open to all students, encourages interest in the cultural background and recent developments in the field of math.

Society for the Advancement of Management: Organized to promote the advancement of the art and science of management in all areas.

Sub Turri: The senior class yearbook, this year to celebrate its 51st year of publication, now requiring the efforts of over 100 Seniors from all undergraduate divisions.

Fulton Debating Society: One of the most famous and oldest of campus organizations, dating back to 1890, dedicated to intercollegiate debates and forums on current issues. Numbering among its former members, bishops, priests, lawyers and corporation executives, this society encourages membership from all students interested in speech activities.

Women's Recreation Association: This group, open to the women in the School of Education, sponsors numerous social events in addition to promoting sports activities for the female students.

World Relations League: The League provides an opportunity for all students to hear and discuss topics of international interest based on current world affairs.

Stylus: Perhaps the oldest organized student activity, founded in 1882, this publication was founded to cultivate and maintain literary excellence among students, by fostering an interest in writing for publication. All undergraduates are invited to submit articles for possible publication.

University Chorale: Here is another long standing campus organization, this year open to all students, male and female. Its purpose is to interest the members in the immense musical culture of the Catholic Church and to use their singing ability as a group.

Mass Servers Club: This group was organized primarily for dormitory students who wish to serve daily Mass in St. Joseph's Chapel.

Spanish Academy: An organization open to all students, whose objective is to promote the culture and literature of Spain via discussions and guest speakers.

Rod & Gun Club: All students are invited to join this group which provides opportunity for novice sportsmen to learn outdoor skills, in addition to sponsoring other campus events.

Public Affairs Forum: Speakers from local and national political areas appear regularly before this group, which offers opportunities for group discussion and questions on affairs affecting the nation.

Lewis R.O.T.C. Drill Team: Of course, membership in this group is limited to all students in the R.O.T.C. program. The Team represents the University in parades and ceremonies and often acts as honor guard for distinguished visitors.

Italian Academy: The knowledge of the Italian language is not a must for membership, for the academy promotes an understanding of Italian culture, civilization and art, and is open to all.

Foreign Trade Club: Open to all undergraduates interested in foreign commerce and international economics.

Geology Club: Founded to promote the academic and practical knowledge of the Earth Sciences. Field trips around New England are an important part of the activities.

The list above is by no means a complete one; there are a number of other campus groups which take their own rightful place in the college scene.

Over all activities, of course, comes student government, in which all are invited to take part. Each college of the University has its own Student Senate, with its own officers and regulations and representing the whole campus is a Campus Council, which is made up of two representatives from each undergraduate school. The general purpose of student government is to promote the spiritual, cultural and academic welfare of the student body, to serve as leaders and to represent the student community for the promotion of college and university interests.

Counselors and guidance personnel work closely and at an inter-college level on the Orientation of incoming Freshmen, to assist the Freshmen in his adjustment in the transitional period between high school and university life. They talk to students on study habits and skills and the need for intellectual responsibility. A unique counseling service is also provided for resident Freshman male students, which is an adjunct to the regular counseling services. These students are organized in study halls and receive talks on study habits, motivation and study techniques.

John L. Driscoll, Ph.D.
Student Teaching

An important adjunct of both the deans' offices and the guidance offices is the Office of Testing Services, presided over by John J. Walsh, Associate Professor of Education. In his first week on campus the entering Freshman in every School is tested in the areas of aptitude, reading ability, and interests. This testing, conducted by OTS, provides information for all later counseling and forms the basis for future guidance and special services. The OTS also handles the testing of an individual student who may be referred because of study problems, personality problems of adjustment, uncertain interests and career goals, and a variety of other problems which may be affecting his performance as a student or his growth as a person. Among its services the Director also talks to student groups on the preparation for and taking of examinations. The IBM services are also available for the scoring of examinations. The Office maintains an inventory of over 20,000 tests for ages of every range, elementary through graduate school. Because of the number of undergraduates now taking standardized national admissions tests for graduate school, such tests as the Graduate Record Examination, National Teachers Examination, Medical School Admission Test and the Law School Admission Test are now conducted on campus by the Office of Testing. Conferences concerning the nature of these tests and preparation for them are held by the Director with individuals and groups of students.

An account of academic guidance at Boston College would not be complete without mention of the services offered by the Library and its staff. Since the University's 600,000 volumes are now housed in nine separate locations, the bemused student needs direction regarding the location and use of these resources. Each year the Director Rev. Brendan Connolly, S.J., and Library staff provide orientation talks for Freshmen on the use of library facilities. The reference staff at the various libraries provide guidance and instructions in the use of the library and informational and directional service. With the opening of stacks to students, self-service became possible. In exceptional cases interlibrary loans are arranged and a general agreement exists among several university libraries in the area permitting students as house guests. Displays of new acquisitions are arranged and in the absence of a University Museum, Boston College art possessions are housed in the library for the appreciative eye of the undergraduate. An undergraduate Library Committee meets frequently with the Director and among its 1961-62 activities it sponsored a contest for the undergraduate possessing the best library.

In addition, as in Alumni News, Fr. Connolly has published suggestions for an undergraduate library of paperbacks, which has also been published by the New York Times. Fr. Connolly is ever ready to counsel and advise students who may be interested in a career in library science.

So far, our account of guidance services has dealt with academic guidance. Since that which makes Boston College University life unique is its Catholicity, and the academic life is given its distinctive focus through the Jesuit tradition, probably the most important guidance service is that provided by the Jesuit Student Counselor. Each school and college has its own Student Counselor whose facilities include a consulting room, a reception room, and a confessional. The counselor maintains regular office hours and, when not teaching, is available without appointment for consultation and for student confessions. The student counselors provide spiritual services both for groups and for individuals. Group services include arranging for annual retreats, which are still obligatory for the Catholic student; arrangement for daily Masses to be said at convenient daytime hours in St. Mary's Chapel and Baptist Auditorium, and for confessions to be heard in conjunction with the Masses. In addition to the early morning Masses in St. Mary's Chapel, Masses are also celebrated at 10:00 a.m., 11:00 a.m., 12 noon and 1:00 p.m. The canonical changes in the laws in recent years governing fasting before Communion make it possible for students to breakfast before leaving home and then to receive Holy Communion during one of the day-time Masses.

The student counselors also organize a day of Recollection during the Orientation week program for Freshmen. They promote the traditional spiritual activities such as the League of the Sacred Heart and the First Friday ceremonies. The academic year opens with a Mass of the

Alexander A. Schneiders
Prof. of Psychology

Holy Spirit, and May Day Devotions involving the entire campus population are attended by His Eminence Cardinal Cushing and presided over by the student chairman of the Campus Council. In addition to "indirect guidance" through the religious pamphlet racks in Lyons Hall, McElroy Commons, and student lounges, exhibits are arranged by the Student Counselors to draw the students' attention to the missions, vocations, and other apostolic works.

As a spiritual Father to the individual student, the Student Counselor obtains a profile on each Freshman student indicating his activities in Catholic life. It answers questions on whether the student is confirmed, frequency of reception of Communion, Sodality and parish activity. As chairman of the Spiritual Life Committee on the Campus, Fr. Richard Shea sees the Student Counselor's work as the essential work of the Jesuit. He describes his committee as the "yeast cake committee"; its job, to cause spiritual fermentation among students.

Some alumni may note the omission of mention of the Sodality in connection with the Student Counselor. Of course, this traditional organization is still a vital one in the spiritual life of the campus. However, as an activity it is under the direction of a special moderator Rev. J. Frank Devine, S.J., since in recent years the structure and scope of the Sodality movement itself has changed and works with fewer students in a more specialized manner. Naturally, this system of officially assigned student counselors in no way interferes with the student's freedom to consult with any Jesuit he chooses, and as in earlier years, many students consult with a Jesuit whom they know through classroom or other contact.

While the academic and spiritual guidance services so far outlined constitute the major out-of-class aids to students provided by the University, they by no means exhaust the list of guidance programs on campus. Of course there is the long-standing relationship of a guidance nature of the Deans of Men, and now Deans of Women, who assist students in many aspects of student activities and personal adjustment. There are a number of services catering to special groups of students. For example there is an office to give advice to students who wish to spend one of their college years studying in a foreign country. Approximately ten students each year have availed themselves of this program since its inception about five years ago. Currently, students are enrolled in universities in Germany, England, Spain, and France. For the first time this year a summer school in Spain was established in conjunction with the Jesuit college at Bilbao. Eleven students took part in a program of courses which focused on Spanish Language and Culture.

There is also an office for foreign students. At present there are 23 foreign undergraduate students on the Campus. The director of Arts and Sciences guidance, Mr. Weston Jenks, is also the director of Foreign Students. He assists these students in fulfilling immigration paper requirements, registers and maintains records for each of them, provides liaison for housing them and securing hospitality for them in American homes, coordinates their academic program with their immigration requirements, and counsels them on personal and financial problems. It is sometimes necessary even to assist them in shopping for clothes suitable to our climate.

Two other special services of a guidance nature are the Military Advisory Board for all male students, and the Coordinator of Veterans Affairs for war veterans and students of deceased service men. The Military Advisory Board has been in existence since 1950, the outbreak of the Korean War, and will probably remain in existence so long as male students have a military obligation. All branches of the services are represented on the Board, and each service is represented by a volunteer faculty member. The function of the Board is to advise students and to supply them with information. It also helps students in the critical stages of planning for graduate school. For example, it advises students that they can be deferred to permit them to attend graduate school if they are in the upper fourth of their class or if they can pass a qualifying examination.

The Service of Coordinator of Veterans Affairs, now directed by Miss Eileen Tonsey, has been in operation since the return of Veterans after World War II. Within the last three years, the number of War orphans who avail themselves of the service has begun to increase annually. The coordinator advises all those eligible on benefits, and arranges appointments with the V. A. At present there are about thirty World War II veterans, about 250 Korean War veterans, and two or three disabled veterans who attend the University under Public Laws 550, 894.

If a student has a health problem, he may be referred to the University infirmary on campus. This is generally true for fully insured students. All resident students are required to purchase full health and accident insurance; day students are required to purchase accident insurance. Each student prior to entry to Boston College must be physically examined. Reports of this examination are on file in the infirmary. The service of three part-time physicians are available at the infirmary during about 11 hours of the week and the services of an RN are available 24 hours a day.

Students who are in need of remedial services can be referred to speech and reading specialists on Campus. The services of a speech therapist who is a full-time faculty member have been made available within the last year.

who volunteer to participate in this program receive an extended orientation with lectures and seminars and, whenever possible, are permitted to study the language of the country in which they intend to work at Summer Session on the Boston College campus prior to departure. As the Lay Apostolate reflects the increasing worldmindedness of today's undergraduate so too does their interest in the newly formed Peace Corps. A Peace Corps center has been established at the Heights to distribute information and help process applications. At present six Boston College students are serving in the Peace Corps and two have just been accepted into training. The activities of the campus Peace Corps office are organized and planned by a Student-Faculty Peace Corps Committee and a Peace Corps Project Committee. Some typical activities include the organization of a Peace Corps Day for recruiting purposes; the organizing of a program of speakers including foreign students, the Regional Peace Corps Representative, the Director of the International Student Center; and the sending of a delegation to the National Student late and the Peace Corps. The Lay Apostolate program which is organized under its Director, Francis S. Sheehan and a Jesuit Moderator has as its aim short term missionary work outside of the United States. In 1961-62 seventeen students went to the West Indies, three to Iraq. In 1960-61 ten went to Jamaica and in 1962-63 eight will go to New Mexico and three to Iraq. Students are available to undergraduate and graduate students, as well as to alumni, in assisting them in obtaining full-time, part-time, and summer employment. In its new location in McElroy Commons the Placement Office, under the direction of George Donaldson '29, is admirably situated and equipped. In addition to the Director's Office, there are eight interviewing rooms and a large reception-browsing room stocked with literature on job opportunities. Students on the way to the Snack Bar can now very easily avail themselves of these facilities and have ready access to the bulletin boards on which job vacancies and interviews are posted. In recent years the Placement Office has joined forces with the Alumni Association in presenting a series of valuable informational seminars conducted by alumni representing various professions and businesses. At the national convention of the American Alumni Council, held in Miami, Florida a year ago last June, the Boston College Alumni Association was awarded an honorary certificate for its work in promoting this phase of guidance for the undergraduates. Last year's program was chairmanned by Peter C. Quinn, '32, assistant director of Labor Relations, First National Stores, Inc. The Alumni Association and its Director are to be commended for this enlightened service to the undergraduates.

A final phase of guidance has to do with our resident students. Within the last ten years an entire new community has grown up on the Boston College campus. The alumnus visiting the campus notes that he can now pass from the lower (athletic) campus to the middle (academic) campus to the upper (residential) campus. To the west of the Towers there are now twelve dormitories housing approximately 1200 male residents. Available to give counseling or guidance are forty Jesuits and thirteen graduate students. Off campus, seventy-five houses accommodate approximately 200 men. All housing for women residents is off campus at the present time. Undergraduate women residents number about 400 and live in a diversity of houses and locations. The administration, organization, and supervision of all housing is presided over by a Director and Assistant Director of Men's Residence and Director of Women's Housing. The counseling of woman resident students is carried out by the Dean of Women in the School of Education and the executive assistant to the Dean in the School of Nursing. Such counseling is mainly concerned with problems of adjustment or living in a dormitory and abiding by community rules; study habits; social adjustment and behavior appropriate to group and community situations. The Jesuit resident prefect is uniquely situated also to counsel students regarding their studies or on personal matters.

Yale undergraduates are fond of lamenting, in the words of their popular song, that they are poor little lambs who have lost their way. If the Boston College undergraduate (and among B.C. undergraduates no lambs have been found) loses his way in the complex of the modern University on the Heights, it is despite the efforts of a host of campus officials whose purpose is not only to prevent anyone's getting lost but to promote the maximum growth and happiness of each student.

IT'S YOUR YEAR AND YOUR DECISION

by Thomas J. Cudmore

There comes a time in every important project when the best way to continue towards success is to restate the reasons for starting it. This time has arrived in the 100th Anniversary Development Program of Boston College. This is the major effort in which Boston College is engaged during the most important period in the life of our 100-year-old University. The Program is now in its second and decisive year. We are concerned with its conclusion; and concern with its conclusion brings us back to its aims and purposes.

It is not our intention here to review the individual objectives of the Program; these have been described in detail in various publications and in many personal presentations to Alumni groups. Instead, suppose we take another hard look at the over-all reasons for the Program. Perhaps an examination in depth will quicken the pace and will stimulate the energy needed to attain those objectives.

When the Very Reverend Michael P. Walsh, S. J., President of Boston College, and the Board of Trustees decided to undertake the 100th Anniversary Development Program at Boston College, no one, whether a member of the Trustees, the Alumni Board of Directors, the Development Council, the Faculty, or any of the Alumni organizations that had any part in the final decision, had the slightest doubt about its rightness, its practicality, or its possible success. Everyone who was consulted affirmed that the Program was imperative for Boston College and — just as important — that the Program was possible for Boston College.

The impressive results during the first year of the Program through June 30, 1962 have given ample evidence that those Alumni of Boston College who have been solicited so far are in substantial agreement with that vital decision. To assure the ultimate success of the Program, it is absolutely essential that we approach the second and decisive year in the same spirit and with renewed vigor.

To most of us, our years at Boston College were years of treasured memories, of lifelong friendships, as well as of education. How else are we to explain the spirit of the Boston College Alumnus towards Alma Mater? How else can we explain the past and present record of Alumni support for our beloved University during the period of her expansion from a small liberal-arts college to the proud, vigorous and widely respected educational institution she is today? To most of us, the welfare of Boston College is a personal concern that needs no special pleading.

The role of Boston College has been described in many ways by countless Alumni. It would be difficult to express it more eloquently than did Charles Birmingham of the Class of 1910: ". . . This great house of learning — preserving the glory of the ancient world now passing again into the shadows; adding school upon school to energize through the life of America; feeding the well-springs of government and knowing that always and forever the end and purpose of government is Salus Populi, a word as wide in meaning as The Commonwealth; and finding the answer here, not alone in studies that encompass arts and science, law and business administration, but in those that minister to humanity in want, in sickness of body, and distress of mind."

Or we may recall the words of Father Michael Walsh on the role of higher education: "Our primary duty is to provide that academic environment wherein thinking men and women may be prepared to make their right and proper contribution to society. Whatever the traditional concepts concerning the university, the only effect of any consequence is the effect of the university upon its age and upon the society of which it is a part. Its desires, its values, its judgments must be tested by those of society as a whole, and one of its first responsibilities is to instill the ideas of moral values and social obligations."

Those of us who had the good fortune to attend Boston College ask no more than the knowledge that Boston College is in need for us to come actively and generously to her support. This has certainly been true over the past year in the 100th Anniversary Development Program. At this, the halfway point in time towards our immediate objective of $15,000,000 for a greater Boston College, the response so far to the call of Alma Mater has been most gratifying. It will be recalled that $7,000,000 of the total goal of $15,000,000 was to be sought from Alumni. At the end of the first year, at the halfway mark, with many hundreds of Alumni yet to be contacted, the Alumni Division has produced $4,491,026, thus attaining 64.1 per cent of the goal.

Non-Alumni friends to date have contributed more than $3,000,000 to indicate their own firm belief and confidence in Boston College. It should be no secret to anyone that many of the contributions from those outside the immediate Boston College family have been made possible by the increasing stature and prestige of so many graduates of Boston College in the community and in the business world.

It is obvious that the world around us will note what we do and will measure us accordingly. But more important, our own sense of self-reliance and self-respect will force us to measure ourselves by the same yardstick. Nothing will become us more in our own hearts than to reach our goal when we said we would reach it.

This achievement now puts us within striking distance of our campaign objective. It also presents us with an extraordinary prospect. We are justifiably proud of the position Boston College has earned for herself since her humble beginnings one hundred years ago. We have prepared ourselves aggressively for a second century of scholarship, research and service; and we have committed Boston College to fortify herself by means of "Strength in Excellence" within the total academic environment of the University. There is no other course if we are to meet the educational obligations of the present and the future. With the generous support of Alumni, business firms and other friends, Boston College can keep her commitment to "Strength in Excellence".

Time is passing and not waiting for us as we pursue our goal. Every month, and even every day, presents Boston College with some new opportunity she must grasp or another new responsibility she must carry out if she is to retain her strong role in the university world, if she is to do full justice to her purpose and tradition. An eminent scholar becomes available for appointment to the faculty; a research opportunity requires new equipment; a distinguished teacher on our own faculty is offered an assignment by another university; lack of space and cramped facilities cry for expansion; faculty salaries, scholarships and employees' wages must be made adequate and competitive; other costs which are steadily rising must be faced; the intense competition of other universities—not only for excellence but in the firm essentials of excellence—these demands and countless others must be met as the great clock in Gasson Tower ticks off the minutes and the chimes toll the hours. Yet they cannot be met unless and until the success of the 100th Anniversary Development Program is assured.

The Alumni know these things, and I am confident that they will act upon them in the way they have always acted. I do not believe we need any more lectures on the subject. But I think we should continue to keep in mind the importance of our efforts, and the objectives they will bring to fruition.

In the year 1863, a handful of Jesuit Fathers obtained from the Massachusetts Legislature a charter to confer degrees. This was our legal birth. But in a larger sense, the founding of Boston College was only the continuation of a system of education which was already three centuries old at the time of the American Civil War. When the United States, first took its place among the nations of the world, Jesuit education was more than 250 years old and numbered among its graduates scholars and poets, scientists and jurists, kings and popes. The world has seen many changes over these centuries, and the subjects to be studied have also had to change. But the way to responsibility, to wisdom and to vision has remained unshaken: the development of the intellect, an understanding of human values, and proper attention to the worth of the individual human person. These, then, are the traditions and the continuing commitment of Boston College. On the threshold of a second century, Boston College can look back on one hundred years of dynamic progress and achievement.

To bring into being such an institution as this has taken much time, much sacrifice, much skill and much devotion. Generations of tireless teachers and scholars, of spiritual leaders, of writers, philosophers, and scientists, of youth maturing into educated manhood have left their mark upon this university and given her added strength and character. We cannot begin to put a true value on our possessions by estimating how much it would cost to replace them. Boston College cannot be replaced at any cost.

Boston College is part of each of us, part of you and me, part of all the scholars and students who have met in her classrooms, part of their ideals and achievements, and part of their lives and experiences, for one hundred years drawing strength and inspiration and character from them all, yet rising above them all in her importance to society. This is the total environment of Boston College, and it cannot be replaced or duplicated. This is the nature of our trust, the true scale of values against which to measure the success of our efforts.

Boston College is an integral part of a great cultural environment in one of the oldest communities in the nation. The first hundred years have shown decisively that she has made a distinctive contribution to higher education, to the community, and to the welfare of the country. This assessment of Boston College is neither imagined, nor is it derived from sentiment or self-esteem. It is arrived at by knowing what society thinks and expects and asks of us: by the ever-growing number of able students from all over the United States and from foreign countries who seek admission to Boston College; by the numerous demands upon the University for service to the public welfare and to national security through research, law, science, medicine, and in social work; by the way the American educational system looks to our leadership in the training of teachers and the Church in the training of young men for spiritual leadership; and, above all, by the careers of our Alumni and the demand for their talents in the professions and in business, in the Armed Forces and in civic life.

Just as with the great Jesuit tradition from which Boston College is descended—tradition she has cherished and advanced—these effects are not produced wholly by design. They happen. They grow. But they happen most regularly, and they attain their firmest and most enduring growth in communities where men of conscience and character, as well as of intellectual stature, are tirelessly trying to strengthen them and improve upon them by design. They happen and they grow in times of war and in times of peace, in eras of trouble and in intermissions of tranquillity. It is to assure ourselves they will continue to happen at Boston College that we must now make our decisive effort to bring our 100th Anniversary Development Program to a successful conclusion.

This, then, is the crucial year for all of us who are a part of Boston College. This is the year of opportunity—this is your year, your responsibility, your challenge, your decision—to enable Boston College to enter its second century with the tools so vital and urgent for "Strength in Excellence".

FOOTBALL —

JIM MILLER STYLE

by Eddie Miller, '57
Director, Sports Information

It is Autumn again on University Heights! Thousands of young students have returned to classes—America's most beautiful campus is again alive—and football is in the September air.

Our Eagles are ready to kick off the sixty-second Boston College football season. The opening game with the University of Detroit is just history now, so let's talk about B.C. football, Jim Miller style.

First of all, Jim is optimistic about the season his initial Boston College team has opened.

Every new head coach—bringing in a new staff, greeting a new group of young student-athletes, and introducing them to a new offensive and defensive system—is definitely going to confront certain problems the first year. However, we think Boston College fans will like what they will see this season.

B.C. is going to be faster than usual; our linemen are trim and have improved their quickness, reaction, and mobility. Our backs will be faster; and we will play, what we believe, will prove to be an exciting, wide-open brand of football. Our Eagles will run out of the straight T form with many variations. Jim Miller-coached teams like to throw the ball—about 25 percent of the time or eighteen to twenty times, assuming we run sixty-five to seventy plays.

The Coach is thinking in terms of having three units ready to spell each other. He will not designate units as “offensive” and “defensive,” however; but all three will be able to go either way. There will be a few specialists at certain positions, such as quarterback. He doesn't want to use his offensive quarterback on defense for example. Another would be big (6' 5", 225 lb.) Bill McKenney, kicking specialist and an excellent college punter.

There are a few areas Jim is concerned with—he'd like to have more depth at the end position and more experience at quarterback, but overall, we are progressing very well and after this team has played two or three ball games, we are going to shape up just fine.

Perhaps running through personnel by position would mean even more to B.C. men everywhere at this stage of practice.

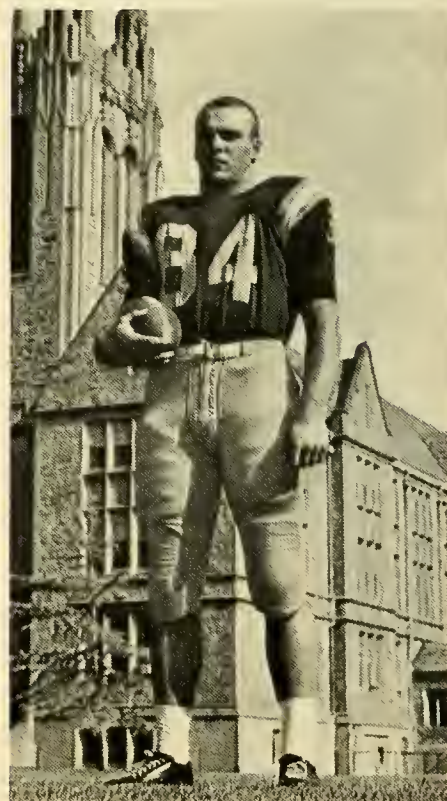

ENDS

Captain Artie Graham, 6' 1", 203, will start at one end and Bob Smith at the other. Jim Miller said recently, “Art is as fine an end as there is in college football! He is a tremendous receiver.” He and Smitty, 6' 5", 210 (who has come along well) are backed up by Joe Lukis, 6' 3", 190, and Carl Fliegner, 6', 195. The most promising sophomore is Jim Whalen, 6' 1", 197. Veteran Harry Downes, 6' 3", 190, a senior plagued with a bad shoulder, should move up as he gets stronger. Junior John E. Flanagan, 6' 2", 210 troubled with a bad knee will also help once he's healthy.

TACKLES

We have several veteran lettermen at tackle, yet have switched a couple of boys here to improve speed at this position. Lou Cioci, at 6' 2", 220, has been moved from guard—he's very strong and fast—and will start at left tackle. Dave O'Brien, 6' 3", 225, is running with Lou and does a fine job. This senior pair is backed up right now by John E. Sullivan, a converted fullback who seems right at home at tackle—he's 6', 210—and on the right side, John Frechette, a 6' 3", 220 pound sophomore with the size and speed that Miller likes. Some experienced veterans who can win their jobs back and are fighting hard to do so are Dom Antonellis, 6' 3", 245 (down from 275); Gene Carrington, 6' 4", 232 (down from 280); Harry Kushigian, 6' 2", 230; and Jerry Donovan 6' 3", 220.

GUARDS

Perhaps our strongest position in the line—John McGourthy, 6', 205, at left guard, and veteran Dave Yelle, 5' 11", 215, on the right side are running with the first unit—both are seniors. Behind them are Dick Cremins, 6' 2", 205 sophomore; and senior Joe Hutchinson, 5' 11", 220 veteran center, switched to right guard. Two additional sophomores doing real well are Emil Kleiner, 6' 2", 210; and Frank DeFelice, 6' 2", 205. Miller's guards are linebackers on defense, incidentally.

Tom Hall, a senior who is 6' 1" and 220 pounds, is the number one center with two years of experience. He is backed up by junior Bart Connelly, 6', 205; and junior Frank Fitzgibbons, 6' 1", 205. Our most promising sophomore center is Bob Pisinski, 6' 2", 200 pounds.

That completes the line. The first three units average 210 pounds—considerably less than the customary big B.C. line of recent years (last year the first two Eagle lines averaged 230 pounds).

QUARTERBACKS

Jack Concannon, a junior who is 6' 3", 200 pounds, has been running number one. He had looked good in the Spring, yet he seems to impress Miller and his staff more each day. Jim feels now that he is going to be not just a good quarterback, but a "great one." Jack has been outstanding at passing and running, and his poise and leadership are tremendous. Behind him are Phil Carlino, a junior with great ability, and a very promising sophomore, Steve Murray—both boys are 6' 1", 180 pounds and both pass and run well.

We have some speed here, but losing Don Moran, a sophomore who was running with the first unit as right halfback until he broke his left shoulder, is a bad jolt. However, with Johnny Barrett, a speedy junior; Bob Shann, a most promising sophomore; and Jim McGowan, another fast and promising sophomore at left half; and junior Pete Shaughnessy, senior Jack McGann; and a third good looking sophomore, Gary Testa, at the right side. We not only have good speed but also pretty good depth. These boys are all just about 6' and 180 pounds. Veteran senior Mike Tomeo (Who missed Spring drills) and Murray Regan and Jerry Jakubzak

FULLBACKS

Most people seem surprised when they learn Bill Fitzpatrick, 6' 3", 210, is running ahead of Harry Crump at fullback, but Bill's performance in Spring practice and to date have earned him this distinction. However Crump, 6', 205 pounds, is a great fullback of proven ability, and Jim Miller "wouldn't be surprised" if he fought his way back up there by opening game. Crump and Fitzpatrick are seniors. Behind these boys are junior Walt Dubzinski, 6', 195 pounds; senior John Janas, 5' 11", 185 (switched from halfback); and a good looking sophomore, John Walsh, 6' 1", 190.

This completes a rundown on the leading candidates of the 1962 Eagles, but there are over eighty boys (including 33 lettermen working hard every day trying to make one of those first three units.

We would like our alumni everywhere to know more about Jim Miller and his excellent young staff.

HEAD COACH

JIM MILLER, starting his initial season as Boston College's head football coach, was born in "Touchdown City, U.S.A.—Massillon, Ohio—where he was tutored by two of football's greatest coaches—Paul Brown and Carroll Widdoes—before he matriculated to Purdue.

Jim co-captained the Boilermakers in 1941 and then served as a Navy lieutenant for three and one-half years. After coaching at Niagara and at Buffalo, Jim took over as Purdue's freshman coach in 1954 and then joined Jack Mollenkopf's varsity staff in 1955.

Under Miller's tutelage, the Boilermaker's line was second in total defense among the nation's college's in both 1956 and 1958. Brown recommended Jim for the Detroit vacancy in 1959 and Jim posted a 6-4 record in his opening season.

A 7-2 record in 1960 earned him Catholic Coach of the Year honors, and last season the Titans had a 5-4 mark.

Jim is married to the former Victoria Konkell of Canton, Ohio. The Millers now live in nearby Waltham with their four children; Tim, 14; Jeff, 10; Doug, 9; and Carrie, 7.

ASSISTANTS

GEORGE CLEMENS defensive line coach made the move to Boston College with Jim Miller after assisting Jim at Detroit last year. Clemens, like his boss, played at Purdue where has was an outstanding gridder during the early 50's.

George was a very successful high school coach from 1953 to 1960 as one of his teams went undefeated and unscored upon in a seven-game schedule and another copped Flint parochial laurels before he joined Miller at Detroit in 1961.

George and his wife, Alice, make their home in Framingham along with their four boys; Todd, 8; Duff, 5; Barr, 4; and Scott, 1.

JOHN McCauley, JR., offensive backfield coach, the hard-running full-back whose brilliant efforts buoyed the Boston College football squads in 1951 and 1952, was graduated from the Heights in 1953 and immediately was appointed football coach at St. Bernard's High School in Fitchburg.

Central Massachusetts' coach-of-the-year in 1956, John moved to Dedham in 1958 and produced its first winning season in seven years to end four straight winless seasons.

John is married to the former Geraldine Cook of Woburn. They have two little boys—John, III, 2; and Billy, 1, and now lives in Franklin.

TRACY MEHR offensive line coach was graduated from Holy Cross in 1950 after playing guard on the '47, '48, and '49 Crusader elevens. The Milwaukee native then entered the Marine Corps and both played and coached football at Kaneohe Marine Air Base in Hawaii.

Following three successful seasons at Washington's Georgetown Prep, Tracy switched to Baltimore's Loyola High and coached the Jesuit school to a pair of Maryland Scholastic Championships and three State Catholic Titles during his five year stay. Loyola won 17 of its last 18 games under Mehr.

Tracy and his wife Carol Ann now live in Canton, her hometown, with their daughters, Barbara, 2, and Mary Carol, 1.

LOYAL PARK defensive backfield coach joined Jim Miller's staff this summer after spending two seasons as head football coach at Edinboro, Pennsylvania, State College. The 31-year old Park coached Edinboro to its finest record in 32 years last Fall.

After playing minor league baseball in the Cincinnati Red's chain for four years, Park coached Evans City High School to Western Pennsylvania County Championships in 1957, 1958, and 1959 before becoming head coach at Edinboro, his Alma Mater.

Loyal and his wife Agnes make their home on the Brighton-Newton line.

EMERSON DICKIE, B.C., '56, freshman coach teaches at Oliver Wendell Holmes Junior High School in addition to handling the Freshman squad at the Heights. After graduating from B.C., Dickie was a player-coach at Fort Dix for two seasons.

Emerson and his wife, Ann, live in Watertown with their sons Michael, 2, and Stephen, 1.

CLIFF POIRIER, B.C., '59, assistant freshman coach was an outstanding lineman at the Heights and then coached at Waltham High for a season before joining the B.C. staff in 1960. Poirier also teaches in the Waltham school system.

Cliff and his wife Anita live in Waltham with daughter Barbara Jean, 7; son David, 5; and daughter Susan, 2.

B. C. CLUB NOTES

veniently located at the junction of the N.Y. Thruway and Interstate #81 at Exit #36. See page 21 for details.

Baltimore

President JOE O'BRIEN '53 reports a most successful season just past and indicates an equally active calendar for the coming year. Through the courtesy of ART DONOVAN '50 of the Baltimore Colts, the Club held well attended monthly meetings at the Valley Country Club and in June sponsored a dinner dance, held at the Wakefield Country Club with over 100 in attendance. Together with the officers of the B.C. Clubs in Philadelphia, New York, New Jersey and Washington, the Baltimore Club is working on plans for an alumni affair following the Villanova game on September 29. Many thanks are due to JOE LONERGAN '54 who has done an outstanding job as the Program Chairman for this club.

Los Angeles

An ever increasing number of B.C. grads are coming to the West Coast, as evidenced by the more than 35 alumni in attendance at a reception to Very Reverend Michael P. Walsh, S.J., B.C. President on August 4th at the Chapman Park Hotel. Club President DAN FINNEGAN '50, also reports a very successful affair was held at his home last spring, due in no small part to the work of his committee: GREG GOGGIN '57, JERRY MONAGHAN '54, CHARLIE TOOLE '43, ED DOHERTY '60 and TOM MORRIS '55. Dan urges all alumni in the Los Angeles area to contact him at his home or call him at FA 1-9873 so that they may be included on the Club roster.

Springfield

Newly reelected president JOE CONCELLIERE '45 reports on two affairs which capped another banner year. The annual Family Communion breakfast at which Sister Loretto Thomas, SSJ was the featured speaker and the annual Sports night, at which Coaches Jim Miller and John McCauley were guests of the Club. Other officers elected for the year are: GEORGE KEEFE, executive vice president, J. FRANK DONOVAN, vice president, ROBERT RIORDAN, Treasurer and MARIALYSE ROY, Secretary.

San Francisco

On Friday evening, August 3, the Boston College Club of San Francisco was honored by a visit from Very Reverend Michael P. Walsh, S.J. A reception was held at the Navy Officers Club, Hunters Point, attended by over 30 alumni, among whom was Fr. William Leonard, S.J., of the faculty, who had been teaching summer sessions at the University of San Francisco. Club president GENE SULLIVAN '52 reports that the club sponsored a well attended family picnic at the Sea Cliff Beach Park in August. He also urges alumni coming into the area to contact him at home or through the La Vista Junior High School, Heyward, where he is Principal, so that they may be added to the Club roster.

Lynn

President FRANK MORRISON '51 announces that the annual dinner dance will be held on Saturday, November 3 at the Diplomat in Saugus. All North Shore alumni are cordially invited to attend this function. Co-chairmen are: MARTIN HEALY '51 CBA and HELEN BLAIR GLIDDEN (Mrs. Edward P.) '49. Other new officers for the year are: DR. JOSEPH LAFFEY '50, vice president, JASPER GRASSA '50 CBA, Treasurer and HELEN GLIDDEN '49, Secretary.

Syracuse

On Friday evening, October 12, the Syracuse Club will play host to all B.C. Alumni at a pre-game reception. It will take place at the Hotel Syracuse Country House, con-

Philadelphia

The B.C. Philadelphia Club, in cooperation with the clubs in Baltimore, New Jersey, New York and Washington sponsored a reception following the Villanova game on Saturday, September 29th at the Treadway Inn, Philadelphia. PAUL DUFFEY '40 who is regional manager for the Federal Sign & Signal Company, acted as Chairman for this affair, reported a terrific turnout of alumni which made for a most successful celebration.

New Hampshire

Through the efforts of TOM CARROLL '48, the reactivation of the B.C. Club of New Hampshire was begun this year. After some correspondence and organization meetings, a number of alumni met at the Highway Motel in June to formalize the club. Elected as officers were: ANDY DOMINICK '37, President, JACK IRWIN '54, vice president and FRANK RICE '32, secretary. Plans are being made for the first meeting in the early fall.

NEWS

FROM THE CLASSES

The Golden Jubilarians celebrate Alumni Day as guests of Fr. Walsh.

"Courtesy Boston Globe"

'12 STEPHEN H. MAHONEY 5 Bellevue Ave., Cambridge

Nine of the thirteen living members of the Class were in attendance at the Golden Anniversary. MONSIGNOR JOHN PHELAN, FATHER FLORENCE GILLIS, S.J., DENNIE DOOLEY, JOE McHUGH, PAT DEE, DOCTOR ED BUTLER, HENRY SULLIVAN, HAROLD TAYLOR and STEVE MAHONEY enjoyed the hospitality of Father Rector and participated in the two days' program.

Because of illness, EDDIE MANNING was unable to join the old gang. So he would not be out of the picture, he was contacted by telephone at his home in Forest Hills, New York, and each of his classmates enjoyed conversing with him. Ed said the hook-up was one of the finest things in his experience.

'13 JOHN B. CASEY 62 Landseer St., W. Roxbury

After many issues of silence the Golden Anniversary Class is again reporting. In April, nine members sat down to dinner in Alumni Hall. They were RT. REV. FRANK PHELAN, PETER McMAHON, JIM KELLEY, TOM HANRON, JOE GILDEA, TOM GANNON, FATHER JIM DALEY, JOHN CURLEY and your correspondent.

A committee was appointed to make plans for our 50th anniversary. On Alumni Day the class was well represented. It was good to see GEORGE FITZGERALD and JIM MURRAY who were missed at recent meetings.

JOE FITZGERALD, retired Supt. of Schools in New Haven is enjoying good health. He keeps occupied in a part time teaching position.

A letter has been received from JOHN HARTIGAN. He is now living in Green Harbor, Mass.

My son Tom, B.C. '44, has gone into business for himself under the name of "Dalton Awards and Badges, Inc." His business address is 71 Park Street, West Roxbury 32, Mass.

OWEN McGAFFIGAN'S devoted wife passed away in Florida. The class was saddened to learn of the death of EDDIE BOUCHER, and also of RT. REV. PETER LINEHAN. To their respective families the class extends its deepest sympathy.

'14 JOHN S. KEOHANE 1147 Tremont St., Boston

Bishop ERIC MacKENZIE, our Class President, presided at the Solemn High Funeral Mass for William Gleason, brother of Monsignor TIM GLEASON, Pastor of St. Anthony's Church, Allston on July 30. We who knew Bill will remember him as a man devoted to his brother and sister and to Charity. May his good soul rest in peace! Our condolences are extended to Monsignor GLEASON in his great loss.

Sister Mary Emmanuella, S.P., daughter of our late lamented classmate DAN HURLD, has been transferred to St. Patrick's School, Stoneham, which she attended in her early days.

FRED DOYLE'S son, Representative Charles '50, most likely will be renominated as Representative from West Roxbury by the time we go to press.

JOHN HOGAN, retired school principal of Lawrence, still continues to be active in church and civic affairs of his native city.

A few members of the class including Bishop ERIC MacKENZIE, Fathers JOE

BUSAM and PAT HIGGINS both of the College of the Holy Cross, Father FRED DEASY of Wakefield, BILL O'SULLIVAN, JACK KAPPLES and JOHN KEOHANE, enjoyed a get-together and dinner at the Hotel Kenmore in May. A good time was had by all.

Very Rev. EDWARD (LEO) HUGHES, O.P., former Provincial of the Chicago Provinciate of the Dominican Fathers and now Pastor at St. Dominic's Parish, New Orleans, Louisiana, attended the Canonization of St. Martin de Porres in Rome in June. Father LEO favored me with a first class Relic of the Saint which I prize very highly.

Having passed our Forty Eighth Anniversary, we are looking forward to our Fiftieth in 1964, and at this time our memory goes back to the wonderful men who guided us in those days such as Father Charles Lyons, S.J., our Rector who succeeded the beloved Father Thomas I. Gasson, S.J., whose judgment and foresight went far beyond his time, Father Brett, S.J., Father Devlin, S.J., afterwards Rector in 1920, Father Ignatius Cox, S.J. and Father David Cronin, S.J., both now stationed at Fordham University, and Father Henry Brock, S.J. of Weston College. The last three are the only men left from our time at the Heights.

Congratulations and best wishes to FR. HENRY M. BROCK, S.J., who celebrated the Fiftieth Anniversary of his Ordination on August 24. AD MULTOS FELICISSIMOS ANNOS!

DAN HURLD, JR., Essex County farm agent, is an advisor to everyone interested in farm and dairy products. Dan has a regular radio program on Tuesdays over WBZ and on Thursdays over WCCM.

Please remember the Fund for the Centennial Anniversary of 1963.

'15 JOHN J. WALSH 41 Tremont St., Boston

PHIL BOND, Assistant Superintendent of Schools in Boston, is the happy grandfather of 3 grandchildren, and is looking forward to his retirement next year.

JOE MAHONEY retired some time ago and spends most of his free time now at the Boston Public Library or at the Art Museum. Two of the members of our class are still in the Boston School system—TOM GALVIN and JOHN LAHIVE. MONSIGNOR JAMES GRIMES, Pastor of Blessed Sacrament Parish in Jamaica Plain, flew to Ireland to visit his old home. He was accompanied by his brother who was making his first visit to his old homestead in 40 years.

'16 JAMES L. O'BRIEN
41 Pond Circle, Jamaica Plain

GERRY McCARTHY is a selectman in North Reading. It's quite a change from "Mayor" of East Boston.

JUDGE LINNEHAN was a finalist in the golf tournament at Barrington, R. I. We now know the secret of his youthful appearance.

Twenty-eight members of the Class were present at our Memorial Mass at St. Columbkille's. At our meeting we were sorry to hear that BILL MURPHY has been ill and that FR. CUNNINGHAM is seriously ill at St. Elizabeth's hospital.

JACK QUINN is a patient at the Shattuck Hospital, Jamaica Plain. He is learning to walk again and is amazing everyone with his courage.

GEORGE KEOUGH's son is head of the Mathematics Department of Bridgewater Regional High School.

Our officers for 1962-1963 are: President, RT. REV. WILLIAM J. DALY; Treasurer, DR. J. IGNATIUS SHEA. The Treasurer is the most important man in every organization.

In May, the Boston Firefighters, at their Memorial Mass in the Immaculate Conception Church, unveiled their Memorial to our classmate, FR. LOGUE.

'17 THOMAS D. CRAVEN
107 Barrett St., Needham

PORKY FLYNN rounded up a fairly good sized group for the Class Dinner at McElroy Commons on Friday, June 8. Among those present were FR. TONY MESLIS, S.J., FR. MAURICE DULLEA, S.J., JOE DEE, JACK DOYLE, WALTER DURNAN, FRANK HEANUE, DR. CY LYDON, BO MAHONEY, RADO McKEOWN, JACK MULCAHEY, MOSE MURPHY, BILL REID, LES SHEA, CHARLEY SHARKEY, BILL WELCH and TOM CRAVEN. Most of the foregoing were on hand the next day to attend the Class Day activities and the dinner in the evening.

BILL WELCH, retired Supt. of Schools, Peabody, is active in his office as Secretary-Treasurer of the Massachusetts School Superintendents Assoc.

FRANK LEE, has retired from his position as professor in the B.C. Business School. He has joined the faculty at Stonehill College as professor of accounting.

JACK DOYLE reports that son Richard was married in St. Pius X Church, Middletown, Conn. to Miss Zenecia Mary Byerly last May.

'18 M. FRANCIS NOLAN
17 South Normandy Ave., Cambridge

Prayers of the Class and sincere sympathy to the family of FR. BILL GROSS, recently deceased after a prolonged illness.

DAN MURPHY keeps in touch from Washington, D.C., but we would appreciate notes from all members of the Class so that we may have up-to-date news items on each one. Come on fellows, pick up the pen!

'19 FRANCIS J. ROLAND
10 Homewood Rd., W. Roxbury

The members of the class learned with regret of the death on June 8 of ED DAN-EHY, assistant superintendent of the Cambridge schools for the past fifteen years.

After graduation from Boston College Ed received his master's degree in Chemistry from M.I.T. and immediately thereafter was appointed to the Cambridge School Department. He was assistant Head-Master of Cambridge High and Latin School before he became assistant superintendent.

Ed was ever the quiet, reliable type of classmate and friend. We shall miss him very much indeed. To his wife, his sons and daughter we extend our deep sympathy. May he rest in peace with God Whom he so conscientiously strove to serve.

JOE HOLDEN was pleasantly surprised when his son, Capt. J. Bennett Holden, USA (Class of '51) arrived home on January 3, 1962, from Germany for a seven day furlough. Capt. Holden left on Nov. 3, 1961 for a three year assignment but fortunately was assigned as an escort on a troop ship which arrived on Jan. 3. He flew back to Germany on Jan. 10.

'20 J. ROBERT BRAWLEY
33 Pomfret St., West Roxbury 32

In the interval between sending in our last class notes and their appearance in print, we regret to say that our classmate, ALBAN McINNES, passed away at the Veterans Hospital.

REV. RICHARD S. McSHANE, pastor at Sharon, also died during the summer. Our sympathy is extended to GERRY CLEARY on the death of his sister, to LEO AICARDI and to JOHN LINEHAN on the death of their brothers. May they rest in peace.

Our condolences to the family of BILL PASHEY who passed away on Sept. 4.

The Mister Chips of 1920, ROBERT "POP" PYNE has called it a day and retired from the Boston School System. He spent the summer at "L" Street with his classmate, WALTER COLLINS.

FRED DONAHER took a fall while traveling in New Jersey and had a long hospitalization. His picture got a big play in the Roanoke, Virginia papers but it was for the dubious distinction of being the first in-patient at the new Roanoke Memorial Hospital. He made up for it by being the first in-patient to be released — and the photographers got him coming and going.

FRANCIS P. J. EARLS, "DUKE" to the '20 gang, spent the late spring flying around Europe, following attendance at the canonization ceremonies of St. Martin Porres in Rome. He visited all the shrines in Europe. It was definitely not a honeymoon despite rumors, but speaking of such things, the Class secretary has promised to stand up for one of our bachelor classmates as soon as he names the date. No names, please.

Our annual reunion will be held in October and the Forty Thieves are asked to be on the alert for their notice. Our ranks are thinning but the spirit of 1920 remains the greatest. All up for our FORTY-THIRD!

9 Emmonsdale Rd., W. Roxbury

JERRY MAHONEY and Mrs. Mahoney spent their vacation in Europe recently. While in Franco they visited their son, Jerry, who was in Phalsburg with the U.S. Army. Young Jerry was released from active service August 20 at Fort Devens. He is a graduate of B.C. Law School and will take the bar examinations in January.

A dinner honoring CHARLIE McCABE on the eve of his retirement from the Registry of Motor Vehicles was held May 29 at Blinstrub's Village, South Boston.

MARK RUSSO'S daughter, Joyce, was married to Henry R. Beaudet, May 12, at St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Jamaica Plain.

Mary Clare Irons, daughter of GORDON IRONS, received her bachelor's degree at Emmanuel College in June. Next year she will serve as an assistant in the History Department at Boston College and will work for a master's degree.

On July 7, Helen G. Mulloy, sister of REV. CLETUS MULLOY, C.P., passed away after a long illness. FATHER CLETUS was the celebrant of the solemn high funeral Mass. The sympathy of the Class is extended to her family.

On May 24, Joseph W. Linehan, brother of MARK LINEHAN, passed away in Boston. Joseph was a member of the Class of 1922. After graduating from B.U. Law School, he was a practicing attorney in the town of Easton. He held elective office there from 1931-1957. The sympathy of the Class is extended to his family.

LARRY GROGAN, presently Deputy of the Oils and Peanut Division for the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, has been named Acting Director of that Division.

The 40th Anniversary of the Class was observed happily by the holding of two events, a Communion Breakfast, attended by 90 classmates and members of their families, and by a gathering of the Clan on Alumni Day.

FRANK TURNBULL and I were co-chairman of the Communion Day on May 30th and JOHN NORTON was in charge of Class activities on Alumni Day. Among the faces of those we don't see too often were those of WALTER GRAHAM and GEORGE O'KEEFE of Springfield, CHARLEY DALEY of Wilmington, Delaware, GERALD "BEN" HARRINGTON, BILL ROWLANDSON, and DR. JAMES MEEHAN. On the Communion Day, Class President, MSGR. JAMES DOYLE offered Mass and BISHOP THOMAS RILEY inspired us by his thoughtful message. Ninety enjoyed breakfast at Alumni Hall.

An interesting letter from FR. WALTER HYLAND, S.J., informed us that he has been at Xavier University, Cagayan De Oro City, Mindanao, Philippine Islands for a few years now. Walter is not only a member of the faculty but is in charge of the observatory as well.

CHARLIE DALEY reported that among his fine family there are three lawyers, one doctor, and ten grandchildren.

A special happy occasion on Alumni Day was the visit of almost all of the '22 men present to the home of FRANK DALY on Beacon Street. All in all the 40th Anniversary was a day of gladness.

Death continues to haunt our class. In May, both HENRY V. CUNNINGHAM, JR., and JOHN P. "NIG" CURTIN, basketball pioneer and track man, passed away at their homes in Calais, Maine, and Cambridge. Then too, DANNY McDEVITT, Captain of the football team at B.C. High in our days of James Street, died in Jamaica Plain. May they rest in peace.

PAUL CARTY, as Superintendent of Schools in Everett, and I, as Dean of Chamberlayne Junior College in Boston, are members of the Committee of the Decennial Observance of the School of Education, the observance to be held in October.

A happy occasion was the July marriage of JOHN THOMAS COLLINS, son of CHARLES COLLINS to Miss Joanne O'Neill of West Newton. John is a graduate of B.C. and Harvard Law. Another happy occasion was the dedication of the Recreation Center, so badly needed and so long desired by our Jesuit classmate, REV. CHARLES EBERLE, pastor of St. Anne's parish, Kingston, Jamaica, B.W.I. Our invitation announcement let us know that the center was opened with a solemn blessing by His Lordship, Bishop McEleney, S.J., D.D., on July 15. The main address was given by Hon. Edward Seaga, B.S., Minister of Development and Welfare. FR. EBERLE, football player and crewman during our years on James Street, has been a Jamaica Missioner for over 25 years.

JOHN BARRY's youngest son, John Brian is to be married on November 17 at the Church of our Saviour in New York to Miss Pauline Anne Paris of New Britain, Conn. Young John is with the advertising firm of Sullivan, Stauffer, Colewell & Baylies in New York and Miss Paris is a fashion designer of children's clothes with Helen Lee, also in New York. Miss Paris is a graduate of Pratt Institute, Class of 1960, while John is a University graduate and served three years in the U.S. Air Force and holds the rank of Captain in the Air Force Reserve.

9 McKone St., Dorchester

FATHER NORBERT McINNIS has very recently returned home from a sojourn in the hospital. We are happy to hear he is feeling much better. He has recently completed a new rectory and will be moving into it in early September.

FATHER EDMUND CROKE celebrated the TV Mass at the Diocesan TV center on August 12th.

FATHER LADISLAUS CIESINSKI will be celebrating his seventh year as pastor of St. Michael's in Lynn. He has been extremely busy erecting a new convent and completing long needed extensive repairs to the church.

JOE COMBER's son, Joseph, Jr. is studying to become an Xavarian Brother. He was graduated from St. John's in Danvers and is now attending Catholic University in Washington, D.C.

DR. FRED BOYLE's son, James graduated from West Point with the Class of 1962. He is with the Signal Corp and will be stationed at Fort Bragg, N.C.

JIM DALY has been vacationing in Des Moines, Iowa where he visited with his brother, Bishop Daly. Jim has been teaching in the Boston School System for 38 years, the last 3 of which have been at Boston Latin School.

The honor of President of the Bon Secours Hospital Men's Guild has been bestowed on BILL DUFFY. Under his able leadership the organization has increased to over a thousand members.

Your secretary learned that JOHN KEYES has been ill for quite some time and is at present at the Pondville Hospital in Norfolk, Mass. recuperating from a very serious operation. A card or a few words from his classmates will certainly be of good cheer.

JOHN O'DONNELL will be starting his 35th year of teaching at Boston Latin School this fall. He has three daughters, one is married making John a granddad of three, one is a senior at Emmanuel College and the third is a sophomore at the same college.

Our TONY COMERFORD is back with the Youth Service Board — His daughter, Mary Lou is a sophomore at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart and Tony is boasting of a seventh grandchild.

JOE CRANE's son Hugh is at Boston College High.

PETER MONAHAN came East to visit his family a short while back. He is living in San Anselmo, California. Since his graduation from B.C. he has been connected with a finance and investment corporation, but for the past five years has been teaching in a Catholic High School.

GEORGE GORMLEY and ED DAVIS are frequent visitors to our famous "L Street" club.

ED DULLEA has been a patient at Carney Hospital and while there met LEO DESMOND. Both have fully recovered. Ed's son Maurice received his degree from CBA at B.C. last June and is now at Newport, R.I. in the Navy Officers Candidate School.

The sympathy of the Class is extended to CLARENCE CRAYTON on the death of his mother, who would have been 100 years old on her next birthday.

Our TV GUIDE for the future is NICK CORBETT, for several years Manager of the Appliance Department at Zayre's Roslindale store. Looking into the picture tube we see a great future for son Tim, who is bowling over the studies at St. Sebastian's and Eileen who has finished Junior High and enters Newton High this fall.

If I read my notes correctly, the DUNCAN family has Chris, Jr. just starting business at Grosse Point Ford Plant; Paul a Lieut. at Fort Sill; Clark, a Lieutenant of Infantry at Fort Devens; Lee going into Sophomore at B.C. School of Business Administration and Joan attending Brimmer & May School. BOB RICHARDS is still going strong in Quincy and his son, Bob, Jr., quarterback of the 1951 B.C. Team, is one of the handsomest and smartest grads of the last decade. A.B. in '52, LLB in '55, now practicing law with Hale and Dorr in Boston. Ann and Mary are married, Catherine is living at home. Ann has made Bob a grandfather twice.

TONY LeBLANC's boy David graduated from B.C. High last June. More in the next issue.

JOHN A. SULLIVAN'S widow, the former Catherine Roche, whom many of us remember pleasantly, died this summer. RIP. Cardinal Spellman recognized our Class Motto "Noblesse Oblige" last May when he conferred the O'Brien Award of the New York Province of Newman Clubs on FRANK KILCOYNE in recognition of his "distinguished contribution to education." Frank's son, Francis P. Jr. received his AB from Cathedral College, Brooklyn, N. Y. in June and will commence his theology this September at Immaculate Conception Seminary at Huntington, Long Island in preparation for the Brooklyn Diocese. He earlier studied under the Jesuits at Brooklyn Prep so he ought to be all right on predestination.

JIM KELLAHER was elected our new Class Treasurer at the Annual Communion Breakfast last April. No Bond required. 24 were present, FRANK KELLY, JIM KELLAHER, CONNIE MURPHY, CHRIS DUNCAN, JOHN BROWNE, JIM WARD, WALTER CARROLL, JIM BROSNAN, JOHN PYNE, ED BARRY, JACK BARRY, LES HOURIHAN, TONY LeBLANC, CHARLIE SHEEHAN, ED MURPHY, JOHN MONAHAN and his son Brian, JOE ROONEY, MARTIN MURRAY, SYL CONNOLLY, GENE CAMPBELL, PHIL CLEARY, CHARLIE DUFFY, J. P. SULLIVAN, JOHN HEALEY. FATHER GERALD O'BRIEN said the Mass. First time Father Tobin missed in 20 years but he's already planning on 1963.

Pray for FRANK TANNER, who died over a year ago.

We regret that you had no notes in the last issue; and while we're regretting things, our annual dinner snafu'd because DR. ART GORMAN got himself ill and was selfish enough to do nothing but consider his own health, during the Spring. He's as cocky as usual now, and has completely recovered from the marriage of son Dave, a fledgling doctor carrying on after father, to Mary West of Shaker Heights, Cleveland, this spring. Young Dave is to intern at Mercy Hospital in Buffalo. And if the following tidbits of information are old news to you by the time you read them, forgive us.

Met FR. JEREMIAH FOLEY, big as life and just as handsome, at East Milton in late July; Jerry's now pastor of an East Boston parish. MSGR. MATT STAPLETON lost a brother this spring, Sgt. Michael A. of the Boston Police Department. FR. DAN DUNN is National Catholic Community Services Moderator and does work at the USO in Fort Devens. Fr.

Dan heads up the Archdiocesan Rural Life Program, with headquarters at Ayer, Mass.

Did I tell you that FR. TOM QUIRK is back on Formosa working with his beloved Chinese poor; can't find a laundryman yet who can or will decipher the hieroglyphics he put on the outside of his last letter. Still clerical, FR. ED CORNELL died in Brockton early this year; remember how quiet he was in college? May he rest in peace. MSGR. HENRY O'CONNELL is now a protonotary apostolic, having recently been elevated to that rank by Pope John.

Now for us "seculars"; PAT SULLIVAN's daughter Katherine recently announced her engagement to Paul Connolly of Weymouth, a U. Mass graduate. They are to be married in October. At the Varsity Dinner, the only old warriors I could locate were FRANK RIHA, looking still in shape to take a hurdle or two, FRANKIE COLBERT, definitely too fat to do anything but walk around one, and MURRAY REGAN, ditto. Where were you?

The same three fellows were at the Cross game during Alumni Day celebrations. Did we report to you that our old Freshman class president, GEORGE BURKE, died? Oh, we did? Remember him, too, won't you? Heard from HOWIE MANDEVILLE this spring, from Seattle, Washington, a bit of a jaunt from Dedham, his home town. He's with Western Gear Corp. and contented; justly proud of Dick, who is 24 and Mary Ellen, who is 18. Dick graduated from Seattle U., a Jesuit college, and he is with the Federal Department of Labor; the young lady enters Seattle U. this fall. Howie had a heart attack in 1952 but he paces himself carefully; he wants to be remembered to all and hopes that some might be going to the World's Fair and might look him up. He lives at 2531 West Dravus, Seattle 99, Washington.

Did you catch the names of the Freshman relayers in the K. of C. games this winter? Young Gerald Govatos is a quarter miler, and is DR. GEORGE'S boy. Have seen a bit of DOOL during the year. He is vice-president of the Eastern Business Teachers' Association which "conventioned" in Boston in April. It was their biggest and their best meeting. Played golf with him, TOM CAV, and ART MURRAY during Alumni Week and had one of the finest days of my life at Wollaston. Boy, are you really missing things. Dool, with a cool gross 79, copped a prize as did Cav. They even found something for me. A month later, we were Arthur's guests at Charles River and that too was a great day. Now, how are you doing on making a little better than usual contribution to the College's Development Program? If you haven't yet done it, do it now—and reach a bit. Who's going to the Syracuse game on the October 12th weekend? We'll have Friday off to get a nice, lazy start to Syracuse. Hope to see you there.

The Family Communion Breakfast held on Sunday, June 10, in Alumni Hall after Mass at St. Mary's Chapel was attended by 105 members of our ever-growing class family made up of the men and their wives, sisters, sons, daughters, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law, and grandchildren. Each man introduced his family and recited a list of their accomplishments. We of 1927 may well be proud of the brains, beauty, and academic successes of our collective sons and daughters.

PHIL LARKIN of Verone, New Jersey, won the prize for the member coming the longest distance. Phil introduced his 23-year-old son who, like his old man, is a broth of a boy.

MRS. FRED GANNON won the St. Catherine of Siena Award and the title of Mother of the Year from Molloy College. JUNE GRADUATIONS: . . . MARTIN TIERNEY's daughter and JOHN "RED MIKE" LYNCH's daughter from Regis College . . . DR. JOHN CICHETTI's daughter and DAN O'LEARY's daughter from the University of Massachusetts.

We regret to announce the deaths of our classmates REV. FRANCIS A. SULLIVAN, C.S.S.R. and JAMES J. MULVANEY. Your prayers are requested.

We are indebted to FR. JOE MCCALL for the following statistics: B. C. Class of 1927 with 218 graduates and 119 ex-1927 men had a total of 337 members. Of these 60 are dead. The total number of priests from our class is 45. Of these 9 are dead.

On Sunday, August 5, BISHOP JOHN W. COMBER, General of the Maryknoll Missionary Order, presided at a gathering of the friends and relatives of the sons of Maryknoll at the Brookline residence of the order's brotherhood. Many Boston College men with sons in this great American missionary order were present. The sermon was delivered by His Eminence, Richard Cardinal Cushing.

'28 LLOYD L. DOYLE
8 Cain Ave., Braintree Hghlds.

Gentlemen of '28, we are coming into the 35th Anniversary of our graduation. 35 years out, I hope not a way out.

Chairman DICK CONDON, recently made "monsignor," is making plans with his committee members for the various activities for our 35th anniversary. Any suggestions for the above, contact Dick.

We made it — a bona fide Monsignor! REV. JOSEPH MCGOLDRICK, located in California, was recently made a Monsignor.

Expressions of sympathy were sent to JACK DOHERTY on the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary Doherty, a past president of the Women's Democratic Club of Mass. Also to DR. ROBERT DONOVAN on the death of his mother last May — a life long resident of Brookline.

Saw in the B.C. High Alumni News, the names of MIKE GILARDE'S son, Thomas, and KEN MINIHAN'S son, Brendan, graduated last June from B.C. High like their proud fathers. Congratulations.

You have heard the song, "The Second Time Around," yes, I have married again—to Mrs. Eleanor Connolly, July 15th at St. Clare's Church, Braintree Hghlds. by Rev. John Connor — my pastor.

'29 GEORGE P. DONALDSON
30 Blackman Rd., Canton

FRANK CADIGAN's son, Frank, '51, is doing research at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center. He was recently admitted to the National Board of Pediatricians. His son, John, '54, is teaching nuclear physics and anti-submarine warfare at the Coast Guard Academy.

LLOYD CARNEGIE is president of Commerce Savings and Loan Association, Shawnee, Kansas.

FR. MARK COAKLEY is at St. Patrick's in Cambridge.

ART DEAN is in Plainwell, Michigan with the Hamilton Paper Co. as the chief chemist. His daughter, Elizabeth attends Western Michigan University and son, James, is in high school.

FR. JOSEPH MacFARLANE, S.J., is now in St. Louis as National Promoter of Sodalties and Director of The Queen's Work and Editor of The Queen's Work.

DR. ALLAN MCCARTHY's son, Allan Jr., graduated from B. C. in 1961.

Our condolences to DAN DEWITT on his wife's death last March. Dan is an executive with American Oil in New York, has four sons and eight grandchildren.

ROBERT K. O'BRIEN, son of the late Robert W. O'Brien, graduated from B. C. this past June.

FR. JAMES WADE has been transferred to St. Joseph's in Roxbury.

JOHN "Cab" MURRAY, after 30 years as a lawyer in Washington, D.C., has retired.

JOE BIRMINGHAM's daughter, Peg, graduated from B. C. School of Education this past June.

JOE DOLAN is back in good old Boston after a five year stay in upper New York State working on the St. Lawrence River power project.

JOHN RYAN is still in the Lead-Insulated X-Ray Protection business.

FR. JOSEPH CONNELL is professor of Theology at Boston College.

FRANK HUSSY works for the New York State Dept. of Correction in Coysackie, N. Y.

MARTIN WHELAN's daughter, Mary, received her habit in Sisters of Notre Dame in Waltham.

JIM RILEY's son, Jim, Jr., graduated from B. C. Pre-med. in June, and son, Phil, enters West Point this fall.

BILL MILLER is Headmaster of South Boston High School.

PAUL DONOVAN is assistant principal at the James J. Chittick School in Mattapan. He has two sons at B. C.

DON MacDONALD is principal of Lawrence School in Lawrence, L. I., N. Y.

FR. ARTHUR DONNELLY is in Fajardo, Puerto Rico.

'30 JOHN F. DWYER
45 Belvoir Rd., Milton

Congratulations to DR. WILLIAM J. SULLIVAN, elected First Vice President and CHARLES F. MURPHY, elected Treasurer of the Boston College Alumni Association.

Seen at the Heights on Alumni Day were: FRANK TALLINO, JOHN GRANDFIELD, JERRY MCCARTHY, JOHN HAVERTY and DR. BILL GREEN.

TOM and FLORA KELLY celebrated their Silver Wedding Anniversary at their home in Milton on July 1st. On Sunday, July 8th, a going-away reception was held for son, Robert P. Kelly, who entered the Jesuit Novitiate at Shadowbrook in Lenox, on August 20th.

Congratulations to DR. JOHN T. FOLEY, who was recently appointed Acting Health Commissioner of the City of Boston, culminating his long service as medical associate.

Recent entrants into the "grandfather's club" are CHARLIE MURPHY, JUDGE JOHN J. CONNOLLY and TED HOPPE.

TED HOPPE's son, Theodore D., is now associated with the Employers Insurance Group in Boston. Ted's daughter, Mary, vacationed in Europe this summer and flew directly from Ireland to Elmendorf A.F.B., Fairbanks, Alaska, to assume a teaching position there.

His classmates were saddened by the death of DR. WILLIAM G. O'CONNOR of Belmont last May. The Class was well represented at the funeral services and our floral tribute was graciously acknowledged by Mrs. Eleanor O'Connor.

The sympathy of his classmates is extended to FRANK TALLINO on the recent death of his mother.

'31 JOHN P. BARRY
370 Chestnut Hill Ave., Brookline

Instead of rejoicing with MSGR. CHARLES R. FLANIGAN on his Silver Jubilee on May 23rd, the Class, shocked and sorrowing, attended his funeral services. After many fruitful years at St. Sebastian's, home for the Class of 1931, he had only a short but promising career as a pastor in Waverly.

If you have not already done so, we know that you will want to contribute to the memorial which His Eminence is planning in memory of Monsignor Charles. Kindly send your check to our class president, Paul E. LaJoie, 18 Sheraton Park, Arlington 74, Massachusetts.

'32 JOHN P. CONNOR
24 Crestwood Circle, Norwood

The Class held a Class Reunion with their wives last June, which consisted of a buffet supper and record hop. About 100 attended the affair which was held at Station WORL through the courtesy of ED GALLAGHER.

On from New York to attend the Reunion and Alumni Day was TOM LYNCH. Others in attendance on Alumni Day were JOE KELLY, BILL CONNOR, COL. JOE HERNON, ROSE ANN CONTARDO (Senior, B.C. Sch. of Ed.) representing father, PETER who suffered a heart attack recently. This 30th Anniversary day began with a 9 A.M. Mass in St. Mary's Chapel, celebrated by FR. VIN MACKEY with FELIX ALBANO and PETER QUINN serving as altar boys. Our ushers were JOE HERNON and ED DENSMORE and PHIL DIEHL played the organ. Chairman of the affair was FRED MEIER and PETER QUINN presided as toastmaster.

RALPH NOONAN has been re-elected chairman of the Framingham Finance Committee. Your class correspondent is proud to announce that his son, John P., Jr., entered the Maryknoll Order Sept. 5 and is now stationed in Glen Ellyn, Ill. He completed two years at B.C. College of Arts and Sciences. FR. FRED MINIGAN is now at Our Lady of the Assumption parish in Green Harbor. Ed Gallagher received a note from JOE BOYLE. Joe is still a security officer for the Air Force Missile Development Center, Holloman A.F.B., New Mexico. This past year, Joe was a recipient of a government patent for a security alarm system and completed two security training manuals.

'33 PHILIP McNIFF
101 Waban Hill Ave.,

WILLIAM A. RYAN was elected President of the Alumni Association in June. During this Centennial Year, he will have serving with him as Secretary of the Association, JAMES M. CONNOLLY. Jim has just completed a successful term as President of the Advertising Club of Boston. One of the club's significant accomplishments during this past year was the production in cooperation with the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce of a marketing brochure on the Metropolitan Boston Market. Jim was recently honored by the Northeast Division, National Conference of Christians and Jews, for outstanding community service. JOHN MOYNAHAN assisted in introducing "The New Boston" to the New York business community. KENNETH J. KELLEY, former Secretary-Treasurer of the Massachusetts State Labor Council, A.F.L.-C.I.O., is now Labor Division Chief, Office of Educational and Social Development, State Department. As Labor Division Chief, he is responsible for program and policy matters affecting trade union activities and legislation in developing countries; he will coordinate labor participation in the Foreign Economic Assistance Program. He has also been named to the newly formed Trade Union Advisory Committee at Harvard.

JOHN PATTERSON has retired from the State Department after more than twenty-five years' service during which time his appointments included, among others, assignments in the Tokyo and Yokahama consulates and in the Foreign Service Institute.

A reprint edition of JOSEPH G. BRENAN's book, "Thomas Mann's World," was recently announced by Russell & Russell in New York. This work was first published by Columbia University Press in 1942. Joe is professor of philosophy at Barnard College and last year published a second edition of his A Handbook of Logic.

JOHN GRAMZOW was recently promoted to the rank of Brigadier General. John's son, Richard, was commissioned a Second Lieutenant last spring following his graduation from West Point.

The sincere sympathy of all classmates is extended to JOSEPH H. RYAN, whose son was a victim of a tragic rock slide in Quincy two months ago.

It was the honor of ED SULLIVAN, First Deputy Secretary of State, to make the announcement of the prorogue of the Massachusetts House and Senate.

Congratulations to JOHN GRIFFIN on being the recipient of the William McKinney Memorial Medal as the outstanding alumnus of the College during the past year. The award was made to John on Alumni Day.

BILL FITZSIMONS has been promoted to a top post with the Metropolitan Transit Authority.

Spotted murdering the calories at the dinner following the Annual Alumni Golf Tournament, held this year at the Wollaston Golf Club, were ANDY MURPHY, TOM KELLY, JOHN GRIFFIN and HENRY FALLON.

'36 JOSEPH P. KEATING 24 High St., Natick

The sympathy of the Class is extended to DR. JIM O'LEARY on the death of his father in August.

FR. JOE ZITO, formerly at St. Patrick's Natick, has been transferred, radios and all, to St. Rita's in Haverhill. BILL SHAUGHNESSY, living in Groton, is New England Sales Rep. for Maryland Paper Products Co. NEIL OWENS is Vice Pres. of Operations for the New York Telephone Co. operating out of New York City. CHARLIE MARSO is recovering nicely from his recent illness and expects to be back teaching school in Natick come the fall. JOE HARVEY was recently elected Secretary of the B.C. Law School Alumni Association. TIP O'NEIL, HENRY GARLAND, TONY FLYNN and ED GORMAN are spearheading the College's 100th Anniversary Development Program for the Washington, D. C. area. BRENT GORDON'S daughter number two, Ellen, is President of the Sophomore class at the School of Education. JOHN MCENROE of Natick has transferred to New York as a result of a promotion to the Executive Offices of Canada Dry. GEORGE GOODWIN of Wellesley Hills, has been designated as the leading life insurance salesman of the nationwide sales force of the State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of America for the month of June. REV. ROBERT E. SULLIVAN of Cotabato City, Philippines (Notre Dame College) was awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from The Catholic University of America in June.

The Development Program for the drive will begin in earnest in the fall. Remember, we are "the perfect '36."

'37 THOMAS GAQUIN 206 Corey St., West Roxbury

Now that our Silver Jubilee Celebration has become history and is joined to the long list of memories, your Class Committee has had an opportunity to examine some of the reasons for the tremendous success, both financial and social, of the reunion activities. More than 100 members of '37 participated in some or all of our Jubilee events, and all have manifested their enthusiasm.

Outstanding contributions to the success of our Jubilee Celebration were many, and we particularly single out BEN HINES, who was stricken shortly before Alumni Week, and who is well on the road to recovery. The Silver Jubilee Chronicle, copy of which has been mailed to every member of the Silver Jubilarians of '37 lead Alumni Day Parade.

Class whose address is known, was prepared by Ben, and it entailed long hours of review and processing of material forwarded by members of the Class. The Class cannot adequately express its gratitude for this tremendous and highly successful work. As you know, Ben is Public Relations Director for the New Haven Railroad, and is the current President of the Jack Ryder Track Club of Boston College. We look forward to seeing Ben back on his feet very soon. In the meantime, we know Ben would appreciate hearing from any members of '37 at his home — 10 Hobart Street, Hingham, Mass.

The Class of '37 is also greatly indebted to RT. REV. ROBERT J. SENNOTT, Chancellor of the Archdiocese of Boston. Msgr. Bob handled the production end of the Chronicle, assisted by WALTER HAMILTON of Lynn who did such an excellent job on the cover.

Several members of the Class conveyed their regrets at being unable to attend the Reunion events, due to illness or business commitments. The Class Committee would be remiss if it failed to express its appreciation to all members of '37 for their assistance and cooperation in the planning of our Jubilee Program. ANGELO DIMATTIA, Class Secretary, has asked that we express his thanks to the members of the Class who attended the Scituate Yacht Club party for their remembrances to him. There is no doubt but that Angie's day to day devotion to duty was a big reason for our success.

Word from DR. PAUL J. COUGHLIN, M.D., of Tallahassee, Florida, indicates that his daughter, Louise, has been awarded a four-year scholarship at Emmanuel College. Louise was President of her class in high school, and in addition to being May Queen and basketball and volley ball captain, she was recipient of the Bausch & Lomb scientific award as a four-year honor student. Congratulations to Paul and Claire.

As we go to press, we learn of the participation once again of JOE WALSH in the Wellesley member-guest tournament at Wellesley Country Club. Joe and his partner are in the finals of that tournament.

LT. JOHN J. BONNER has been selected by Boston Police Commissioner Edmund McNamara to attend special course in law enforcement administration at Northwestern University for a nine month period, beginning in September, 1962. John's success in law enforcement is guaranteed.

Members of the Class residing in the metropolitan area of Boston are pleased to read the many fine feature articles authored by JIM DRONEY appearing in the Sunday Boston Herald.

A meeting of the Planning Board for our Silver Jubilee year activities was held on Wednesday, July 25th at Alumni Hall. The meeting was presided over by JIM O'HARE assisted by Tom Murray, Director of Alumni Relations. Many of the members were unable to attend due to vacation plans and business needs. However, a good representative group consisting of FRANK STAPLETON, FRANK SULLIVAN, JOHN MANNIX, FRANK RYAN, JOE HARTIGAN, BILL PRIOR, WARREN CRONIN, FRANK TOOMEY, JIM DALEY and JIM O'HARE held a strict business meeting for about two hours and resolved the following:

event on the schedule will be a Class Reunion dinner, to be held at Alumni Hall on Wednesday, October 17, at 8 P.M. Additional details on this affair will be in the mail very soon.

Annual class dues for next year, only, will be $5.00. This amount was agreed upon due to the heavy expenses which will arise during the year. As a special feature of the year, there will also be a dinner and general meeting of the Class, following the Holy Cross game on December 1, in McElroy Commons. Chairman FRANK RYAN extends a cordial invitation to all the wives of '38 to attend this affair.

On Family Day, October 27, a parking lot get-together before the BC-Houston football game will be under the supervision of JOHN MANNIX, FRANK SULLIVAN and FRANK RYAN. A block of tickets will be set aside by the athletic office to give us an opportunity to sit together. Those holding season tickets can exchange them for seats in the class section. Tickets for sons and daughters will be sold for $1.00. A St. Patrick's Social on March 18, a Family Picnic at B.C., a day at Scituate Yacht Club on June 5 for husband and wife, bachelors and girl friends and then, of course, the big week prior to Alumni Day. It will be our privilege to supply the marshals for Graduation Day 1963. We also discussed the possibility of getting out an inexpensive year book to be distributed on or before Alumni Week. Full details of decisions reached and prospective plans will be incorporated in a letter to be mailed to the class.

A skating party to include the entire family will be held on Sunday, January 27, 1963 at McHugh Forum. This function will be handled by BILL PRIOR, JOE HARTIGAN and JIM CASEY.

In the June issue of "Greater Boston Business", a magazine published monthly by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, JACK GUTHRIE had a very interesting story concerning the progress of "Business Aviation." Jack is senior vice president and director of East Coast Aviation Corp. at Hanscom Field, Bedford.

We were all shocked to hear about the sudden death of JOHN MORRIS on June 23. The tremendous turnout at his wake and the large congregation at his Mass were a fitting tribute to John. His brother-in-law, JIM REGAN, met many of our class at the funeral home. Father ED KING, a curate at St. Peter's church in Dorchester, was deacon at the Mass and HANK CHIARINI was one of the honorary pallbearers. To John's family and LOUIS MARINELLO's we offer our sincere sympathy.

PHIL MARCO was appointed to the professional staff of the School of Medicine at the University of Missouri in the Dept. of Psychiatry. Phil travels 120 miles (one way) to attend the meeting of the St. Louis B.C. Club.

COL. JOHN KING was recently promoted to Chief, Plans Office of the U.S. Army Quartermaster Research & Engineering Center, Natick, Mass.

The exact basis for formal distortion of the statistics hasn't yet been decided but Thirty-Nine, in terms of attendance and distance travelled via the Great Circle route, easily made the best showing of anniversary—and even of non-anniversary—classes on June 9 last. Thirty-three were on hand for the luncheon, a tribute to chairman JIM McGRATH'S determination to pry us out of seclusion. The mileage got lost on a crease in our National Geographic map but JOHN F. O'DONNELL took the honors in the distance category when he hurtled in from Bonn, Germany, where he is Management Officer at the American Embassy. Others on hand were JOHN J. LYNCH, JR., Credit Manager for L. H. Hamel Co., Lowell, who explained the complications of running a Diners Club for his six boys and one girl. DICK BULMAN, Westinghouse Industrial Engineer was on hand and also JOHN HENDERSON, Lt.-Col., USMCR and Eastern District Sales Manager for the Bureau of National Affairs, publishers catering to the legal and labor relations field. We shall respect the privacy of the remaining 29 stalwarts and conclude the Alumni recital with the disclosure that ANDY O'BRIEN was elected Pres., and DR. PHIL QUINN, V.P. for the coming year. Balloting for the other two offices went about as expected.

Intelligence gathered since June goes something like this: In the non-bank-president presidential listings RALPH G. DACEY heads Industrial Polymers & Chemicals, Inc., of Shrewsbury, Mass. manufacturers of chemicals and plastics. The oldest of his five children enters Wellesley College this fall. JAMES F. KELLY is Pres. and Treas. of Cairns Lumber Co., purveyors of building materials in Chelsea, Mass. The Kellys are living in Lexington. SIG SOMY is founder and president of Aberjona Mills, creators of quality sweaters and knitwear with national distribution, specially fabricated on imported Swiss machines which he carefully conveyed down the Rhine himself, or was it up the Mystic? Our notes seem to be a little blurred at this stage, which allows an opening to say that JOSEPH F. CEDRONE, O.D., has been a practicing optometrist in Brighton, Mass., for more than a decade.

From the national press, trade and otherwise, we find "Printers Ink," weekly journal of the advertising profession, quoting extensively from DICK CASEY'S before the American Marketing Association's general session this summer. Dick, V.P. Marketing for Benson & Bowles, N.Y. spoke on measuring the value of advertising. Missiles and Space Magazine published an article on reliability by LEO LANDREY who is Staff Engineer at Burroughs Research Center, Paoli, Pa. The senior of his quintet won a scholarship and enters Cornell this fall with Foreign Service aspirations. Michael Dacey, son of Col. and Mrs. TIMOTHY J. DACEY of Westover AFB was awarded a scholarship in a national essay contest on racism and then added a national Merit scholarship. Holy Cross is his choice.

Gerald M. Shea, son of MICHAEL (SMIEGELSKI) SHEA was graduated from B.C. High in June and has since entered the Society of Jesus.

LARRY BURKARD is Government Contract Representative at RCA in Burlington, Mass., and making considerable headway in tournament golf. The Burkards have three girls. BOB GRIFFIN is now Assistant Administrator, General Services Administration, Washington, D.C. He makes his home in Chevy Chase, Md., and would like to have us believe he is holding his own with a year-old daughter, Mary Catherine.

LAWRENCE FITZPATRICK has been appointed Superintendent of Schools in Salem. He had previously been Superintendent in Clinton.

After what might loosely be called a sabatistical leave, your correspondent is back at the familiar corner. We ask your assistance regarding news of classmates far and near.

Many of our classmates are working diligently in the Development Fund Program of the College which is under the direction of TOM CUDMORE, who is doing his usually superb job. Workers and contributions are essential to the success of the campaign, and all classmates are urged to participate fully.

REV. JOSEPH SHEA, S.J. has assumed his duties as Rector of Boston College High School after serving for a number of years as Moderator of athletics and Dean of Men. He joins FR. AMBROSE MAHONEY, S.J., the Principal of the High School and several sons of classmates.

PAUL GREELEY is now located in Springfield in charge of the Joint Civic Agencies Organization.

ED KENNEY vacationed in New England this summer. Ed is a partner in the Chicago law firm of Winston Strawn, Smith & Patterson.

Also vacationing in Boston was GEORGE GALLAGHER who is attorney in charge of Labor Law for Swift Co. in Chicago.

In Iraq, REV. JOHN BANKS, S.J. is president of Al Hikma University and REV. PAUL NASH, S.J. is at Bagdad College.

MSGR. FRANK LALLY is in the news frequently as a leading spokesman on church matters.

DAVE LUCEY, JR., son of Dave, is a freshman at the College this year and a candidate for the freshman football squad.

MIKE ANANIS, son of Vito, is a star halfback at B. C. High.

The sympathy of the class is extended to the family of DR. HERB SULLIVAN who died last winter on the West Coast. Also to DICK WRIGHT on the death of his father, HENRY McMAHON on the death of his father and JOHN O'DONNELL on the death of his mother.

DR. JOHN MULLIGAN is now at Villanova University as Associate Professor and Director of the Language Laboratory.

DR. EZIO TESONE is one of the outstanding dentists in the Boston area with offices in Everett. After graduating from B. C. Dr. Tesone attended Loyola University School of Dentistry in Chicago.

J. HARRY LYNCH is headmaster of the Newman Preparatory School in Boston which has achieved a high reputation under his guidance.

FRANK AHEARN is counsel for the Appellate Tax Board in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

'41 HENRY SHEEHAN
6 Crescent Ave., Newton Centre 59

BILL MAGUIRE informs us that he had the honor of representing the Class at the dedication of a memorial to JOHN GALLAGHER by the Town of Framingham. John was one of the first heroes to give their lives in World War II.

Seen at the B.C.-H.C. baseball game were PAUL McCABE and JACK BEATTY.

In attendance on Alumni Day were PAUL TRUE, ELMER ROSS, LARRY CONNORS and your correspondent.

CDR. JOHN NUTTALL, formerly Naval attache in Thailand and Laos, has been assigned to the faculty of the Culver Summer Naval School by the U. S. Navy Dept. John and his wife have three children and are living in Culver, Ind. DR. GEORGE CASSERLY, eye surgeon, is a partner in the offices of Earl, Summer and Casserly.

The Class was well represented at the Alumni Week functions on our 20th. The Reunion Dinner on Friday night brought out a fine representation including: REV. PAUL L. HARRINGTON, ERNIE HANDY, DR. JOE MARCANTONIO, REV. DAN BARRETT, TERRY GEORGHAN, JIM STANTON, DR. JOE STANTON, DICK FERRITER, GERRY JOYCE, WALTER HOLDER, TOM McDONALD, DAVE O'KEEFE, DR. FRANK COLPOYS, DR. JOE KELLY, JOHN HART, BILL DUGGAN, BILL POWERS, VIN DEBENEDICTUS, JOHN FITZGERALD, PAPPAS JAMIESON, CHARLIE DONOVAN, REV. RICHARD O'HALLORAN, JIM COLLINS, JOE BOOTHROYD, AMBIE CLAUS, FRANK DEVER, FRANK MAHONEY, ED McDONALD, BOB ATTRIDGE, DR. DICK STILES, TOM MULDOON, CHARLIE SULLIVAN, BOB SNEDDON, BILL GAINE, PHIL GILL, FR. DINAN, FR. FRANK NICHOLSON, FRANK GANNON, BOB LALLY, FRANK MACK, FR. RICHARD COSTELLO, S.J., and PAUL MAGUIRE.

Alumni Day itself was well attended and if you think 20 years doesn't make a difference, ask our softball team: DAN BARRETT, FRANK MAHONEY, ED McDONALD, FRED SEELY, TOM LANE, JIM STANTON, JIM COLLINS, DICK STILES, FRANK DEVER, FRANK MURPHY, JOE MARCANTONIO, LEO DENNECKI and ERNIE HANDY (umpire). Actually FRED SEELY looked as though he has spent the last few summers in the Red Sox outfield, having made three or four spectacular catches.

FRANK MACK, father of eleven children, is doing a great job on the fund drive in Maine.

BOB LALLY has moved from West Springfield to Hill House, Suffield, Connecticut. Bob continues as a member of the Board of Directors of the Stanley Home Products. Two years ago, Bob, his wife, and three sons spent a year in Switzerland during which time he organized the European branch of Stanley Home Products. Last winter Bob spent more than a month in Latin America on a business trip.

The condolences of the class are extended to the family of PAUL KING, who died suddenly on last November 15 in his New York office.

TOM MEAGHER has left active service with the Army and is now in the Office of the General Counsel, Post Office Department, Washington.

In the late news from Maryland, we're informed that FRANK HARVEY has formed his own contracting firm doing general construction work.

The Sorbonne in Paris and Cambridge University in London were the scenes of FR. LEONARD MAHONEY'S travels this past summer. He spent the time in historical research and has now returned to the B.C. faculty.

FRANK LIND has returned from the Mid-West and is now residing in Scituate.

Among those at Alumni Day were: JOE MURPHY, JACK CONDON, DAN HEALY, ED O'SULLIVAN, JIM (P.) CONNOLLY, WALT GREANEY, ED McGILVER and ED MYERS.

After a short vacation in the States, ED O'SULLIVAN leaves again for the Near East, where he is presently conducting his own firm engaged in oil and general business throughout Eastern Europe.

Seen walking down Commonwealth Avenue recently was VIN FORTE, who recently returned from a business trip to Europe and is making plans for a repeat trip in the near future.

JOE HURLEY is now associated with the firm of Crowley, Elliot, Connelly & Hurley with offices at 295 Washington St., Brookline.

Included among the class dues payments returned were these notes:

ELMO BREGOLI is presently the Vice Principal, Temple City High School and is living in Glendale Calif.; BILL MURPHY has joined the commuter crowd by moving out to Westport, Conn.; and SAM CHURCH has accepted the position of executive vice president and general manager of the Hospitals Laundry Association of Boston.

Among those who attended our annual June cocktail party were: SAM LOSCOCO, PAUL HEALY, JOHN LOGUE, ANDY CARNEGIE, JACK CONDON, BERNIE HENKEN, TOM CURRY, AL DONOVAN, LOU ALFANO, JOHN CORBETT, FRANK POWER, JIM DUANE, ED MCGILVERY and WALTER GREANEY.

Active in the formation of the N.H.-B.C. Club is JIM SWEENEY, Vice-President and general manager of the Champagne Division, Grand Union Stores.

The 20th anniversary committee of the Class of '43 will be meeting early in September to plan our reunion events. One event tentatively planned is our annual buffet dance on Friday, November 9, so mark this now on your calendar; more news will be in the mail as soon as possible.

In the meantime don't forget your class dues and if you have some ideas for your 20th reunion contact your correspondents, we'll be very happy to hear from you.

DR. EUGENE LAFORET is the recipient of the Pope John XXI International Prize for Medical Ethics. The Prize is named in honor of the 13th century Pope who was also one of the most competent doctors of his day. Dr. Laforet has been honored by the International Congress of Catholic Doctors for a paper on medical ethics. "The main point of the paper," says Dr. Laforet, "is that the term 'hopeless' is totally meaningless. All the discussion surrounding the treatment of dying patients tends to overlook the fact that calling a case 'hopeless' obscures the realities at stake. Actually, we're all hopeless. Singling out the dying patient with this term is to his detriment, and inhibits the progress of medicine in general."

BOB BERNARD has been appointed commerce attorney of the Greyhound Corporation. He and his wife and two children live in Skokie, Ill.

FRANK CONDON is the proprietor of a popular hardware store in Holliston.

TOM CASEY, president of Dalton Awards & Badges, Inc., welcomes B. C. alumni to his new office at 71 Park St., West Roxbury.

EUGENE BERTOLLI is chief design engineer for Napier Co. along with being secretary for Meriden, Board of Education. Eugene's wife, Jean, is also busy as a mother and book illustrator.

Congratulations to BILL MCCARTHY who is getting salty at his new post as manager of Navy Yard Branch of the National Shawmut bank. Felicitations to Bill are in order too, on the recent birth of his third son.

CHARLIE EARLEY, ED FLAHERTY, DAVE CAREY and a few others were seen taking in the enjoyable Alumni golf day at Wollaston this year. Congratulations to T. X. CRONIN who has been named President of Cramer Electronics Inc. As many of you missed the opportunity of buying or even seeing the Class of '45 Sub Turri Yearbook so many years ago, I thought you would enjoy the following remark contained in its pages which I came upon the other day. "Five Hundred strong the class of 1945 began on September 1941 . . . December 7, 1941 came to break tradition . . . singly and in groups the men of '45 left the college to go to the battlefields of war . . . as the long awaited day of graduation came eleven months prematurely 28 of the original 500 stood to receive degrees." Many returned to graduate in 1947 and '48. Your writer with BYRON GRAF, TOM SEAVER and TIM CRONIN returned from overseas to receive degrees with a handful of good nuns in 1946 having gone from Boston College to "the Battlefield" at Holy Cross for several months under Government orders of course. Is it any wonder I frequently have to encroach on the class of '47 members for news and say, for example, that BILL O'SULLIVAN is Zone Organizational Manager at General Motors Divisional plant in Newton and with his charming wife, Mary Jane, summered in Scituate this year. In looking through the yearbook there are many that gave their lives in the country's defense . . . among them JOE CROWLEY of Milton, MARTY GIBBONS from Brookline, RICHARD LYNN of Milton, JIM MATTHEWS from New York City, VIN NAGLE of Brookline and BOB WHITE of Newton . . . there were others and their good piano playing, humor, sporting ability and friendship is easily remembered. Let us not forget them in our prayers. Speaking of service men and prayers Fr. PAT KELLY is now Chaplain of Newport, R. I. Naval base.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. JAMES MAHER (BARBARA POLILLIO) on their recent marriage.

Congratulations also go to Mr. and Mrs. NEIL HYNES (KATHY MCCARTHY) on their newly born.

Our sincere thanks to our Anniversary Class Committee for their excellent work in arranging such a successful variety of activities for our 5th year celebration. It was really great seeing so many '57ers return to take part in these events and hearing of their accomplishments.

Our general chairman for all these activities, JAY CRONIN, estimated that about 220 '57ers and their guests attended the class cocktail party at McElroy Commons. So great was the response and success of this affair, it will no doubt become an annual Springtime event for the Class of 1957.

ED COAKLEY assisted by CHARLIE FOX did a magnificent job in arranging the class golf tournament. They certainly had excellent "taste" in selecting the prizes. Congratulations to JOHN COYNE who walked away with first prize in the Callaway and in the class division of the tournament. Other '57ers who played impressive golf at Wollaston and shared in the prizes included: JACK DWYER, PAUL SHEIL, BILL HEAVEY, CHUCK LYNCH, JOE MOYNIHAN and GEORGE HENNESSEY.

It was nice to see our classmates FR. ED CONDON and FR. JOHN McLAUGHLIN at our class dinner. FR. CONDON is stationed in Townsend and FR. McLAUGHLIN is at Holliston.

Alumni Day was considered by many to be the best of any 5th year class in a long while. Not only did the Class of 1957 look real sharp in the parade with their bright ten-gallon hats but also on the ball field in the softball game against the Class of 1952. The fancy pitching of MARTY CLANCY—the spectacular fielding of JOE FAHEY, S.J., GERRY KELLY, PAUL O'LEARY, BILL JONES, PAUL McNULTY, FRANK LYNCH, LEO MORRISSEY, FRANK HIGGINS and others—the timely hitting of BILL CUNNINGHAM, JOE CELATA, DICK DESMOND, JIM CANTWELL—the excellent managing and bench strength of JIM DOYLE, PHIL McLAUGHLIN, DOM EMELLO and VIN LAMPARELLI, plus the occasional refreshment between pitches made the '57 team almost unbeatable. The day was so great that many classmates have suggested that we have a "5 year" group for next year's Centennial Year Alumni Day—any suggestions . . . ?

PAUL BROWN, who is now an insurance representative in Atlanta, Georgia, took top honors for coming the farthest distance to attend these events. PETE MURPHY and DICK DOWLING made the scene from New York. SIB LOPRESTI, who is now a social worker in the Providence area, also came for Alumni Day.

Congratulations to CHUCK and MARLENE LYNCH who send word from Burlington of the arrival of their third child, a girl; to JAY and JOAN CRONIN on the arrival of their second child, Neil; and to BOB and PAT MULLEN on the arrival of their first child.

'57ers who have left the role of eligible bachelors include: PAUL SHEEHY, CHARLIE RAY, GERRY HOOLEY, CARNEY DANIELS, FRED KEYES, OWEN GAFFNEY, FRANK REIDY and DR. FRANK GREELISH.

GEORGE NAWN, who received his Ph.D. from M.I.T., was vacationing in this area recently. George is associated with the Eastman Kodak Co. in Rochester, N. Y.

Recently heard that BOB HILLYARD, who had been stationed on the U.S.S. Carrier Midway as a Navy pilot, is planning to enter law school this fall.

TOM FINNERTY has announced the opening of his law office, Bulger and Finnerty at 41 Tremont St., Boston.

BILL CULLINANE has accepted the position of history teacher at Needham High School.

BILL TOBIN wrote me a note a short while ago. Bill, his wife, Ann and two children are residing in Holliston. Bill is still with General Motors Corp., Chevrolet Division in Framingham and is continuing to take courses in business at the graduate school.

A recent bulletin from the Boston College 100th Anniversary Development Program made note that the Class of 1957 is setting a pace for all classes to follow. It stated that all alumni should "consider that one gift of $3000 and seven gifts of $1000 have come from the class of 1957 . . ." Let's all try our best to continue to set the pace in this very important program.

'58 RICHARD J. O'BRIEN, Ed.

CHARLES J. KELLY, A&S
22 Wedgemere Rd., Beverly

The first item that we would like all classmates to give high priority to during this coming year is ideas, thoughts and co-operation in making our fifth anniversary week, a time to remember.

At the Alumni Day held this past June, the skeleton representation from our class had themselves a great day, and our only sorrow, was that more were not in attendance. TOM HASSEY—now working for the Kemper Insurance Co. in the New Haven, Conn. area was on hand for Alumni Day, and was outlining plans for our Anniversary. Perhaps all those interested in having a successful anniversary might contact Tom.

DAVE KASTINE—One of the few successful coaches this past year. Dave coached the North Reading High baseball team into the Eastern Mass baseball tourney.

Congrats to ED & MARY KELLY on their becoming parents for the third time. Ed is living in Dracut, and working at the United Fund in Lowell.

A bouquet go forth to the playwright of our class TOBY CASSIDY on another successful stand of his third play.

A DDS. for TOM MOSCARILLO who graduated from Georgetown Dental school in June.

HENRY ZIELINSKI—is now selling for MacAlester Bicknell Chemical Suppliers. Henry still maintains a firm interest in sports as he was seen acting as Trainer for The Boston Patriots at their first scrimmage.

TIMOTHY MORAN—is now teaching at the Intown Graduate School at Northeastern University.

FRED WRIGHT—seen frequently at the Heights either at the football stadium or the hockey forum is currently teaching at the Woburn Jr. High School.

JOHN O'BRIEN—now citizen O'Brien, back from three years as an Army Officer, will resume teaching at Dedham High School.

AL CARROLL—is selling for the Upjohn Co. in Boston, and will soon take the big step.

JOHN DONLAN is now employed in the Advertising Business in Boston.

PETE GUILMETTE—now out of the service and is working in Lancaster, N.H.

JOE LINEHAN—is teaching school in Waltham.

Yours truly recently took the big step and was married to the former Mary Jo McAvinn of Melrose, with the support of six B.C. grads as ushers.

Belated congrats are in order to JOE and Janet GAROFOLI on the birth of their second son. Joe must rank with one of our busiest classmates, with teaching in West Boylston and coaching basketball, coaching football in Hudson, and refereeing in Worcester and his home town of Clinton.

PAUL LYONS—Another teacher coach in our ranks, is teaching and coaching at Cambridge High and Latin.

BRAD SMITH—recently promoted to project director of the Community Services Council at Lansing, Michigan. When last heard from Brad and Vicki were the proud parents of two girls.

FRANK MAZZAGLIA is Director of Public Affairs at Lesley College.

AL LIVINGSTON was awarded an M.S. from Rutgers Univ. in June.

A big thanks to Nashua's DAN KEHOE for his assistance in compiling these notes. Dan just returned from Bowdoin College where he spent the summer as a recipient of U.S. Govt. Fellowship for post graduate work in chemistry.

A plea to all classmates, we would appreciate hearing from you, your whereabouts, family changes, new locations and any news you might have about classmates that have gone unnoticed during the past four years.

Welcome home to our Lay Apostolates, MAUREEN O'BRIEN and MARY TUBINI, who have spent the last year at St. Mary's College in Jamaica, B.W.I., and to CLAIRE KELLY, who taught in Puerto Rico. Maureen has a contract with Dedham Junior High starting this fall.

SHEILA NUGENT and NANCY BONAZZOLI visited the girls in Jamaica during Easter vacation. Nancy has transferred to Natick High and is continuing M.A. work at B.C.

PATTY BOOTH, now Mrs. Michael McDonnell, is residing at 7 Taunton Lake Dr., Newtown, Conn. and is teaching first grade. She is also studying for her Master's at Fairfield University.

JOHN ALTIERI is back among the ranks of 'us' teachers.

VERONICA McLAUD has a teaching fellowship in the College of Arts and Sciences, Dept. of Math, and will be completing work towards an M.A. at B.C.

Wonder how MARG LEE and JEANNE McCARTHY enjoyed teaching in Connecticut last year?

PAUL DEVLIN is at Salem High and has taken courses at B.C.

MAURICE CUNNINGHAM will enter his second year at Suffolk Law School, which he attends evenings while teaching at Saugus Junior High and canvassing the North Shore area for automobile and real estate sales—busy lad!

GRACE ENOS BATTAGLIA and CHARLIE BATTAGLIA, Lt. (j.g.) U.S. Navy, will be in Hawaii for six months as of October. They are presently in La Mesa, Calif.

DAN MacDONALD is in Hawaii for the next three years as a Lt. in the Marines.

CAROL LALLY became Mrs. David G. Reynolds in August. Her new address is 51 Carey Ave., Watertown.

REGINA FOLEY has spent the summer touring the U.S.A., with Las Vegas and a teaching position as the point of destination.

STEPHANIE GREGORY is now a sophomore at the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania. During the summer she was given a fellowship to do research on the causes of mental retardation at the Vineland Training School in New Jersey—wonderful future, Steph!

Congratulations are in order for PAULA FITZGERALD, the first member of the class to receive a master's degree. Paula will be with Natick elementary schools in September.

JO ANNE O'BRIEN will be teaching at Woburn High this fall. Jo Anne spent six weeks in Europe this past summer.

ANNE MULKERIN FULMIERE is teaching English and social studies at Silver Lake Regional High in Kingston, Mass. and is studying for an M.Ed. at State College at Boston.

Knox, will be stationed in Korea. FRANK BRENNAN and MIKE BYRNES are roommates in New York, working for Price Waterhouse. BUCKY WARREN, former B. C. hockey player is working for Bucky Warren, Inc. and will attend Babson Institute this fall. Our prayers and best wishes go to PAUL DOHERTY as he begins study at Shadowbrook Seminary. TOM WOLEK will take the big step with Maureen Keegan in the fall. TONY CAPODILUPO will attend Yale Graduate School this fall. Getting a close shave every day are TOM HUBBARD and BOB MURRAY at Gilette. VIN DEFUMERI is playing semi-pro football in Chelsea, Mass. Class President, AL "SAM" URBANOWITZ is burning up Wall Street with Merrill Lynch. JOEL LANDRY is attending the Washington College of Law at the American University.

Our new Nursing graduates are engaged in a variety of jobs. MARGARET CURLEY, JEAN MARIE EGAN, ROSEMARY HANLEY, and LAUREL EISENHAEUER are working in hospitals near-by the World's Fair and having a wonderful time—only one flat tire on the trip out. ELAIN FINNEGAN, MAUREEN JAMES, ARLINE GEHRMANN, JOAN MULLAHY, and JANE SHEEHAN spent their summer on the Cape, working at Cape Cod Hospital. JANE McNAMARA, JANET MCCARTHY, ELINOR TOBIN and ROSEMARIE TOPJIAN are combining business with pleasure as camp nurses. EILEEN MCCOOK and CAROL DOREY, after a summer of intensive Spanish, left August 11, for New Mexico via Niagara Falls, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, etc. We are now at Our Lady of Guadalupe Clinic, Penasco, New Mexico. CATHERINE CURTIS already loves her new job as obstetric instructor at a Hartford hospital—and she has a new Chevy convertible for commuting. MARITA WALSH is our other student-turned-instructor—she is a medical-surgical clinical instructor. BRENDA SULLIVAN enlisted in the Navy Nurse Corps. These early months after graduation have resulted in many name changes: LINDA BAGNELL, now BESSER; ARLENE BUTLER, now ANDERSON; PAT EGAN, now MANOCCHIA; CHARLOTTE FENNESSY, now FONTAINE; ELENOR FRANK, now COOK; JOAN GILLIS, now COYLE; GRACE NICHOLSON, now MALY; JOANNE O'DONNELL, now JOSEPHS.

Congratulations to JIM and Marie PRENDERGAST on the birth of their first child.

MARIA ALIBERTI will be sharing the fruits of last summer's trip to the Sorbonne with her students at Everett High School. JACK BARCLAY will teach English at East Brunswick (New Jersey) High School. PEGGY BIRMINGHAM, who just recently announced her engagement to Bob Maroney (School of Social Work, '62) will teach in a Dedham Junior High School. JEANMARIE HANAGAN will also teach in Dedham and plans a June wedding to Harold Case. Heard from BETTE BRODERICK the other day, she tells me that she will have a first grade in Randolph, while her friend BARBARA MAHONEY will teach the fifth grade in Stoneham. Stoneham has also claimed VINNIE RESTIVO who will teach Math at Stoneham High. ANNETTE CATANIA and MARIA COSCO are teaching in Commack, Long Island and enjoying every minute of it. OLIVIA CARREIRO is teaching Math in her home town of Somerset, Mass. MARY CASEY will be at Saint Catherine's School in Somerville. Speaking of Somerville I heard that its pride and joy, LIEUT. JIM FRANCO will be stationed in Texas with the Army. BILL FURTADO, RAY CREAM and CARMEN ZACCARDI will be joining active service soon.
